Class of '61

FOR THE THEME of the 1960 Pirates' Log, we have chosen "Highline in Hi-Fi". While the connotation of the words, high fidelity, refers to the highly faithful and quality reproduction of original sound waves, it could, with equal accuracy, denote a faithful reproduction of any wave, whether it be sound, light or radio.

This year we have gone one step further. We feel that we can remember our years at Highline as an attempt by our teachers, counselors, and fellow students to engrave upon the recording surface of our character the ideals of citizenship and education in America. In the process distortions occur, as in quality record production. Three years at Highline have helped us ease many of the distortions and "background noises," which have been super-imposed upon this "recording environment." Let us hope that our "play back" over the years may be in a highly faithful manner to the lessons learned at Highline.

The Pirates' Log staff of 1959-60, sincerely wishes that the sophistication of the future years will not prevent sophomores, juniors, and especially the seniors, from looking through the following pages; and in so doing, glimpsing momentarily the ideals which we held high as a part of our youth, here at Highline. These were the years when the distortions of life's struggle were not yet etched upon our recordings.

Don't - I didn't get the chance you too well - but you're a great guy
Please stay that way. I'll be with you as a long time in life.
Best of luck always

Dedication—"To a Wonderful Gal"

*The secret heart is devotions temple; there the saint lights the flame of purest sacrifice, which burns unseen but not unaccepted.—
Hannah More.*

THE ABOVE words describe Mrs. Birdie Davis as we see her. As a superior adviser, Mrs. Davis has helped publish another nationally outstanding Pirates' Log. Under her leadership, the Pirates' Log has won nine First Places and five Medalists, the highest award in the nationally recognized voluntary rating of year books by Columbia University. The University also presented her with the Gold Key award on March 16, 1957, for her devotion, patience, and sound judgment in the field of journalism. In recent years at Highline, she has taught four classes of English and has devoted many hours to the Annual work each day.

With the knowledge that Mrs. Davis would never allow the Pirates' Log to be dedicated to her, we secretly made our plans and carried them out. We, the Pirates' Log staff of 1960, wish to show our appreciation and the appreciation of previous staffs for her tremendous service to the student bodies of Highline. Birdie Davis, we dedicate this book on which you have worked so hard, to you.

HIGH SCHOOL life presents many challenges and choices which demand courage to solve—the same type of courage used by those who perfected high fidelity sound reproduction.

Courage is a varying quality that may be manifested in different ways and demonstrated in situations which sometimes appear most obvious, other times obscure. Our athletes show one kind of courage in meeting and accepting physical combat. They have been conditioned to these events, which to many appear to be terrifying ordeals. The athlete learns that he must play the game according to the rules, just as everyone learns that the biggest game of all must be played by the rules.

We can't all be athletes and reap directly the rewards of these great experiences, but we can help them, help our school, and gain stature for ourselves. Then, when we “play back” our “record” from Highline, it will show the “highest fidelity.”

Valuable Working Components Keep Educational Aims High

SCHOOL BOARD • Mr. James Rice, Mr. Stanley M. Little, Mrs. Ola Mae Crawford, Mr. Charles B. Guslander, Dr. Victor Thompson.

DURING the last two years, a substantial effort has been exerted to define the objectives of the Highline District Educational Program. On December 22, 1959, the School Board adopted a statement of educational objectives which can be summarized as providing a stimulating, challenging course of study for every youngster in line with his interests and abilities.

The Highline School District was fortunate to have as its Board of Directors for the 1959-1960 school year: Mrs. Ola Mae Crawford, president; Mr. Stanley M. Little Jr.; Mr. Charles B. Guslander; Mr. James W. Rice; and Dr. Victor Thompson.

Many improvements have been made during these two years toward quality in education. These include the introduction of Spanish in the seventh grade, accelerated courses in mathematics and English, expansion of foreign language courses, reduced average class size, and more counseling and child guidance services. With the maintenance and operational tax levy voted March 8, 1960, continued improvements in education can be expected.

The Board of Directors tried to offer all Highline District students the best possible educational facilities, so that someday they too will be leaders in worthwhile community endeavors.

Marching Along Together

DESPITE fewer meetings, the Parent-Teacher Association moved closer than ever to their goal of guiding parents, students and teachers towards harmony and better understanding of each other.

The year opened with a gala anniversary "birthday party," at which all available past P.T.A. presidents were honored. In November at the traditional Open House Night, the P.T.A. board staged a pre-meeting potluck dinner for teachers, assisted by the Future Teachers of America. During the year the parents learned of the diverse school activities and of the seniors' doings on a Senior Parents' Night. Moreover, pertinent school information was mailed in newsletters to their homes during the year.

International contact was re-established with six students and five adults trekking to North Vancouver, B.C., to return last year's visit by the Canadians. The "exchangees," including Swedish student, Anders Lindquist, stayed in Canadian homes and reported their experiences upon return. Late in the spring to help further foreign exchanges, the P.T.A. again sponsored the President's Ball—this time with the Foreign Exchange Club, on the theme of "Wide, Wide World."

Office Technicians

"OH, WHAT a beautiful morning" sang Mrs. Lilly Anderson as she cheerfully went about her office routine of straightening out schedules and sorting out lost and confused Highline pupils. Her three assistants, Mrs. Lillian Mickelsen, Mrs. Lois Taylor, and Miss Joan Jacobsen joined in for the chorus as all worked harmoniously in the office.

After a summer of work scheduling the program each student was to follow, the devoted office staff carried on in classic style throughout the school year. They recorded grades and class information, helped out the office force and counselors in the attendance office, and were generally responsible for the efficient running of the functional business of the school. All this they accomplished in a competent and experienced manner, with relatively few mishaps. As the year advanced, good will records piled up on the office desks from pupils and faculty alike.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION OFFICERS • Mrs. Adeline Reitz, secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Dunbar, vice-president; Mrs. Loren Alexander, president; Mr. Jack MacLennan, treasurer.

OFFICE STAFF • Standing: Mrs. Lois Taylor, Miss Joan Jacobsen, Mrs. Lillian Mickelsen. Seated: Mrs. Lilly Anderson.

BOARD OF CONTROL • Beautifying Highline's campus was at the head of the Board of Control's agenda throughout the year. Highline was challenged by several high schools in the state to improve its school grounds for the "Century 21 Exposition." Forming and directing a large committee, the Board of Control promoted this worthwhile project in answer to the challenge.

After being elected in March, 1959, the officers immediately began work by planning twice-a-month summer dances to keep the students united during the vacation. In the fall of their year of office, the Board of Control promoted, joining with other schools in this area, the March of Dimes Drive.

Following this was the instituting of various new activities in the life of the students. Among these was a club counseling assembly, a meeting of all club presidents, once a month, to discuss problems needing the attention of the school government. A problem which caused great concern among the Board of Control members was a code of laws pertaining to school standards. An amendment was made to the constitution, and the Board enforced the new law in hopes of bettering Highline's conduct and reputation.

During the fourth quarter, the student body officers were elected for next year. To commence this event, the Board held its third annual leadership conference at Camp Waskowitz to counsel the newly-elected officers in making next year another successful and eventful one in the lives of Highline's students.

Judi Rodgers, treasurer; Sally Johnson, secretary.

The Board of Control also sought enlarged horizons. During the first part of March, they sent representatives from Highline to North Vancouver High School, in Vancouver, British Columbia. This event was the follow-up of the new foreign exchange program started last year when these Canadian neighbors sent several visitors to the Highline area. This spring, for two consecutive days, the Highline delegates—Craig Collette, Ronnie Alexander, Riley Sivertsen, Sallie Winquist, Jackie Culton, and Anders Lindquist—attended classes, assemblies, and special “teas” put on by the students of North Vancouver High. This exchange program benefited both schools in respect to school government, classes, sports and activities.

To continue the Exchange Student Program at Highline High School the Board of Control contributed their talents toward making the Festival of Nations a tremendous success. On April 23, the subdued little school became transformed into a foaming cauldron of foreign costumes, customs, and cuisine. At sidewalk cafes in the school gym the student “travelers” sampled delicacies from many nations as they recuperated from their activity in events such as the Japanese Rice Throw Game, African Big Game Hunters’ Shoot, and the Caribbean Coke Bottle Pitch. Later homeward bound the “tourists” were heard commenting on their delightful and informative “tour of the world.”

Top Hi-Fi Performance

AS ENDURING as a diamond needle, the Class of 1960 will long be remembered in the halls of Highline. The students were to the school as the notes are to a song; individual parts, making up the whole and the more coordinated the notes, the higher the quality of the tune. Keeping the masses in tune was the Class of 1960, being endowed with the most training and leadership qualities, assumed responsibility for the "tune of things."

Assisting the sophomores along their way were the class officers: Riley Sivertsen, president; Craig Collette, vice-president; Sue Coulter, secretary; and Cloy Sykes, treasurer. With some 700 tunes in their symphony, the sophomores began proving themselves an aggressive class by receiving honors in many fields—music, scholastic achievement, and athletics, to mention a few. Pat Rose was honored by Girls' Club as sophomore Girl of the Month, Dick Burgess was lauded as an outstanding student, and Jeff Rich and John Cooley were recognized as top athletes by receiving varsity letters in football and track.

In their junior year, the mighty Class of 1960 was split when over 200 members, howling like hyenas, went to Mt. Rainier, but now you couldn't pay them to come back. Even splitting them couldn't stop progress as many received special honors: Deannie Dunbar and Sally Johnson, song princesses; Nat Schomaker, yell princess; Pat Schei, Homecoming junior princess; and Pat Yarno, junior Girl of the Month. Leading them on their way were junior officers: Craig Collette, president; Jerry Hewitt, vice-president; Tom Beffa, secretary; and Sue Semprez, treasurer.

The last facets of the diamond needle became apparent as the tune of the senior year was sung. It was not a tune of victory or continual harmony; nevertheless, it did have some undisputable high fidelity chords. These chords, they hope, have made lasting impressions on the future leaders: the juniors and the sophomores. These sagas will never be forgotten; the football games, the fighting basketball squad, the rooter buses, dances, assemblies, the prom, the all-night party, baccalaureate, and commencement, the climax of school life for many; the beginning of a new life for all. With these memories and with the knowledge and leadership shown, all seniors begin that which is expressed in their motto: "One goal, many paths."

His thirst for knowledge was like a growing tree.

ROCKIE BURGESS—
*Gladly fix your car would he,
But we don't know how safe you'd be.*

TOR BURKHARD—Swimming, Track.
He struck us like a steam engine in trousers.

BEVERLY BURKHART—Publicity Club.

*I think that I shall never see
A girl who's such a mystery.*

JANET BURKHART—"High Lines" Staff, Honor Roll, Quill and Scroll.

*As a feature editor she surely could write;
Her professional touch was the "High Lines" delight.*

GORDY BUSHNELL—

*No sartorial elegance, just casual attire;
As earnest a fellow as one could desire.*

KAREN BYERS—Girls' Playday, H.G.A.A., Panorama, Pep Club, Publicity Club, SPADES, Foreign Exchange Club.

*She's honest, quiet, and sweet in her way;
Her company adds pleasantness to each new day.*

BERNITA CALL—Girls' Playday, H.G.A.A., Triple H, Venders, H.G.A.A. is the key for me;
A P.E. instructor I really should be.

MADELYN CAMERON—Band, F.T.A., Honor Roll, Library Club, Make-Up Club, Orchestra, Torch.

*Quiet, with not too much to say,
But I keep my convictions along the way.*

JO ANN CAMPANELLA — Tennis Manager, Girls' Playday, H.G.A.A., Honor Roll, Representative Assembly, Torch.
She hath much goodness in her little finger.

*Was there ever a lass with such a fine mind,
With hand so willing and heart so kind?*

JAMES CASSELL—"The High Lines" Staff.

*A jovial critic who was heard to say,
"T.V. is fine, but the commercials—nay, nay."*

MICHAEL CASSIDY—Big H, Track.

*A cinder artist, not too many are found
As nice as he to have around.*

ERNIE CASWELL—

How pleasant to rest on one's oars and drift with the tide.

SHARON CASWELL—Glee Club.

*Over a book she doesn't tarry,
But she surely can sing like a canary.*

DAVID CHAPMAN—Camera Club, Publicity Club, Junior Red Cross.

*A fellow who was as quiet as he,
Naturally did well in photography.*

BOB CHEESEMAN—Entered from Franklin Pierce High School, Tacoma, Washington, in his sophomore year.

*The smooth flowing lines of the car for him—
The page of the text book was all too grim.*

MARY ANN CHRISTENSEN—Honor Roll, Pep Club, Publicity Club, Triple H, Representative Assembly, Ticketeers, Torch, Yell and Song Club, Junior Varsity Yell Staff, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Cap and Gown Committee, "Pirates' Pen" Staff, Girl-of-the-Month.

An artist's delight—a study in pastels.

PAM CLARK—A Cappella, Make-Up Club, Girls' Playday, Glee Club, H.G.A.A.

A mind at peace with all below, a heart whose love is innocent.

DENNIS CLAYTON—Big H, Boys' Club Cabinet, Football, Knights of the Cutlass, Track, Gift Committee.

An athlete that scores in more ways than one.

DICK CLEMMONS—Annual Band Concert, Band, Honor Roll, Knights of the Cutlass, Torch.

Born to serve in a blissful way.

BRUCE CLIBBORN—Big H, Boys' Club Committee, Football, Prom Committee, Panorama, Representative Assembly, Swimming, Track, Senior Class Vice-President.

Here's a blend of brawn and brain;

Given time, he'll rise to fame.

JIM CLIFTON—National Honor Society Treasurer, Radio Club, Grand Honor Roll, Science Club President, Waskowitz Counselor, Intramural Gymnastics, Baccalaureate Committee.

Math and science appealed to Jim;

To excel in these fields he thought was no sin.

BARBARA CLIME—Entered from Foster High School, Seattle, Washington, in her senior year. D.E.C.A.

Strumming on a Spanish guitar

Makes summer sweeter than school by far.

BONNIE CLIME—Entered from Foster High School, Seattle, Washington, in her senior year. D.E.C.A.

She liked to swim and bowl and ride,

But in her singing we took pride.

KATHY CODY—Entered from Arcata Union High School, Arcata, California, in her junior year. Honor Roll, Pep Club.

Her make-up was always rosy.

All who would win joy must share it.

JOHN COOLEY—Big H President, Basketball, Football, Grand Honor Roll, National Honor Society, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Representative Assembly, Track.

Intellectual fire and prowess, too;

The line crumbled when he came through.

IRENE COON—Library Club.

I'm not called "Shorty" for nothing!

PAUL COOPER—A Cappella, Glee Club.

In auto shop he did real well,

He built his Ford to go like—MAD!

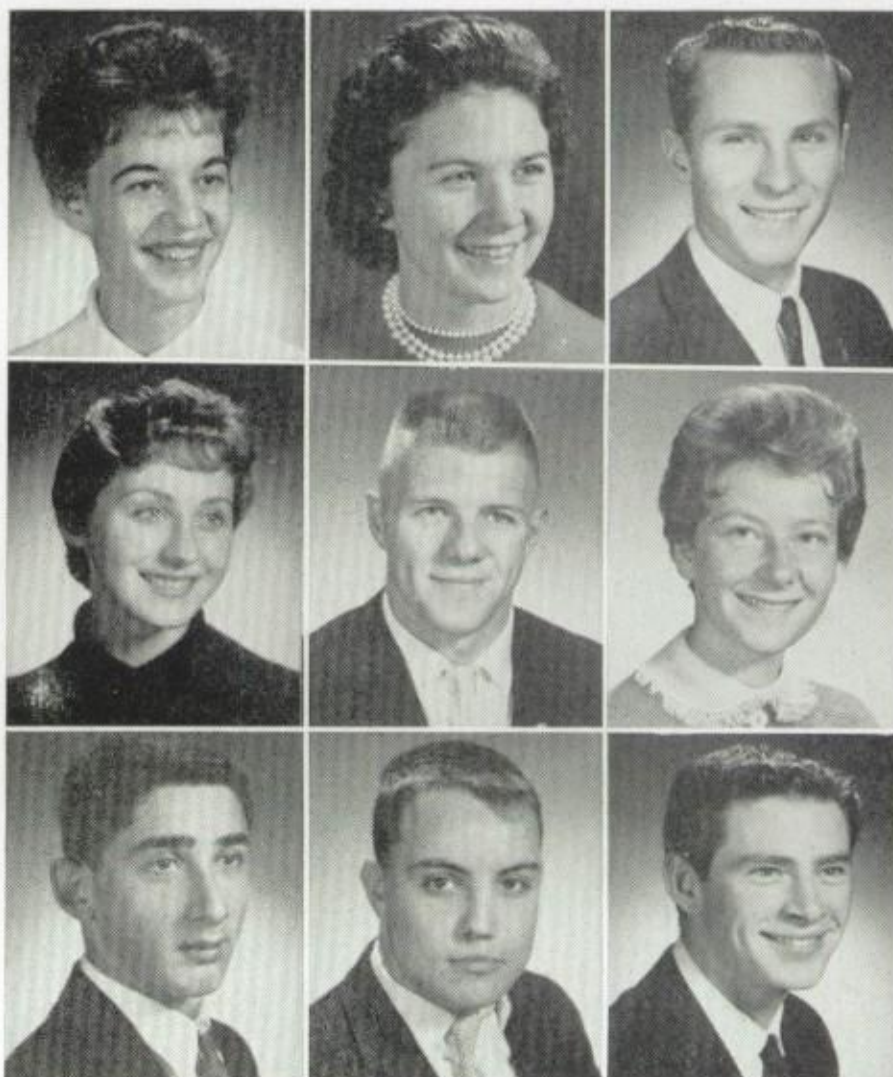

JOHN COPELAND—Band, Debate, Pep Club, Yell and Song Club.

I shall never grieve, nor shall I fret,

If my homework I forget.

MIKE CORBLEY—Gymnastics.

Always a tinge of madness in his method.

TOM CORDS—Band.

Strength and music may be combined,

To balance life if you're so inclined.

KENNETH CORSETTE—

Books and pencils were taboo;

Ken had other things to do.

DARLENE COX—C.A.S.H., Girls' Club Committee, Torch.

Slightly unpredictable like the April days,

And just as attractive were her ways.

JUDIE CRANKOVICH—Book Room Staff, C.A.S.H., Pep Club, Publicity Club, Ticketeers, Torch, Yell and Song Club.

Charming and neat,

Not a trace of conceit.

JANYCE CRILLY—Drama Shoppe, Girls' Club Cabinet, Triple H, Torch, College Conference Committee, "Knave of Hearts," "Mrs. McThing," "The Great Big Doorstep."

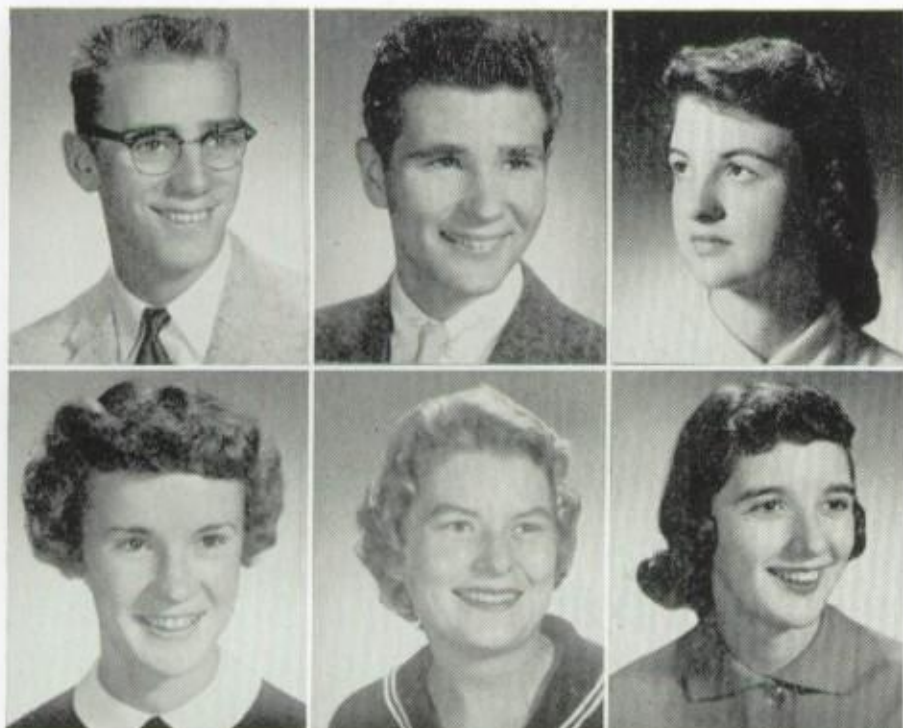

What an interesting grad she proved to be—

Mistress of the stage and of geometry.

*Driving trucks was in his field;
The right-of-way he'd never yield.*

LUCY DEFEO—D.E.C.A., Drama Shoppe, C.A.S.H., Glee Club, Pep Club.

A dance, a glatter—a little bit of chatter.

JUDY DEKING—

A violet by a mossy stone half-hidden from the eye.

JESSE DENA—Boys' Glee Club.

*Quiet, pensive, a little bit shy;
But since he's earnest, he'll do more than get by.*

DIANE DERBY—C.A.S.H., Pep Club, "Mrs. McThing," "The Great Big Doorstep," College Conference Committee, Waskowitz Counselor, Triple H.

A woman of moods is a woman of charm.

ELDON DERKLAND—Basketball, Big H, Tennis.

With him tennis was a musical racket.

MARK DEVINE—Board of Control, Football, Honor Roll, Knights of the Cutlass, Quill and Scroll, Swimming, "Pirates' Log" Editor-in-Chief.

*Two personalities had he:
One the public knew; the other, hard to see.*

STEVE EASTERSON—

*Math and physics suit me fine,
But English just "ain't" in my line!*

THOMAS ECKLEY—

*Wheelin' and dealin' down the street,
Or at the drags, I'm never beat.*

NANCY EDMISTON—Honor Roll, Library Club, Senior Orchestra, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Torch, Intramurals, Program Chairman "The Great Doorstep."

*What a happy old world this one would be,
If all were as genial and friendly as she.*

Earth has not anything more fair to show.

CHUCK TEETER—Track.

*Shrewd, sure, swift on his feet;
In track, this boy was hard to beat.*

SHARON TEGTMEIER—D.E.C.A.

A feminine woman is one of the few things that never go out of style.

JOHN THOMAS—

*Life to him was often a jest—
What would happen if he did his best?*

ART THOMPSON—Library Club.

*A little tall, a little shy,
A bookworm with an observing eye.*

MARGERY THOMPSON—D.E.C.A., SPADES.

*As long as she has her man and her horse,
She'll be on cloud nine, just happy, of course!*

HARLAN ULRICKSON—Entered from O'Dea High School, Seattle, Washington, in his junior year. D.E.C.A.
*Along the way, garrulous and gay—
 He saved his work for another day.*

JANICE VEENHUIZEN—A Cappella, Annual Band Concert, C.A.S.H., Glee Club, Pep Club, Ushers, Cap and Gown Committee.
If her sweetness were sugar, she'd be a confectioner's delight.

DOUGLAS VERSTEEG—Baseball, Torch.
*This young man should go quite far
 With his voice and his guitar.*

JUDITH VERT—Library Club, SPADES, Ushers, Homecoming Invitations Committee.
Sincerity and truth are the basis of every virtue.

HARRY WAGNESS—Track.
*Girls made him nervous we heard him say,
 But puppies and fellows worked just the other way.*

ROBERT WAITT—Glee Club, Honor Roll, Sportsman's Club, Torch.
*When he's a cop some future day,
 He'll let no "big one get away."*

GRANVILLE WAKE—
*He could make his little six
 Do all sorts of fancy tricks.*

KAREN WALLACE—H.G.A.A.
Her pathway to happiness will be a walk down the aisle.

JOHN WALTERS—Band, Annual Band Concert.
*"A little learning is a dangerous thing,"
 John passed the danger mark, and now he can sing.*

SANDRA WARE—Honor Roll, Triple H, Torch, F.N.A., Baccalaureate Chairman.
*A girl more considerate, thoughtful and sweet,
 Than Sandy, I know you will never meet.*

STEVE WARE—Debate, Swimming.
*Contentment broke like a wave o'er his face,
 When he thought of the sea or dreamed of a race.*

ROBERT WASMER—Science Club.
*Sand, shells, the lure of the sea
 Have captured completely this merman-to-be.*

BETTY WELBORN—Senior Class Treasurer, Pep Club, Representative Assembly, Yell and Song Club, Foreign Exchange Committee Executive Board, Foreign Exchange Club.
*Delightfully engaging or so she seemed,
 Just a little coquette, full of dreams.*

GLEN WELCH—
Excelled in the three R's—rugged, rough and ready.

LEONORA WESSON—A Cappella, Head School Banker, Honor Roll, Junior-Senior Prom Committee, Pep Club, "Pirates' Log" Staff, "Quill and Scroll," Representative Assembly, Torch, Yell and Song Club, Foreign Exchange Club, Girl-of-the-Month, Waskowitz Counselor.
Cheerfulness is as natural to her heart as color to her cheek.

BILLIE LEE WESTCOTT—Annual Band Concert, Band, D.E.C.A., Majorettes, Representative Assembly.
*She was short in stature with quite a whirl,
 But boy, oh boy, could this girl twirl!*

DEL RAY WHITE—A Cappella, Football, Track, Gymnastics.
*How oft thy voice in song doth rise,
 So oft do we thy deeds of prowess prize.*

DONNA WILLIAMS—A Cappella, Radio Announcers, Glee Club, Swimming, Library Club, Western Washington Solo Contest, Northwest Chorus, Junior Red Cross, Future Nurses, All-State Chorus.
*She shares the song in her heart with you
 Through the voice of an angel, pure and true.*

SHARON WILLIAMS—F.N.A.
How pleasant a quiet person can be.

DAVID WILSON—Football, Track.
*If it were not for wits, such as he,
 What a dull old world this one would be.*

SALLIE WINQUIST—Drama Shoppe, Girls' Club Vice-President, Girls' Club Cabinet, Honor Roll, National Honor Society, Pep Club, "Tonight at 8 o'clock," "Mrs. McThing," Triple H, Ticketeers, Yell and Song Club, Cards and Announcements Co-Chairman, Standards Committee.
Much that was lovely came her way.

JAMES WINTERS—D. E. C. A.

*He drifted through school like a summer breeze,
For he couldn't resist a life of ease.*

RUTH WIRT—A Cappella, "High Lines" Staff, Representative Assembly, SPADES, Torch.

What is life without a little fun mixed in?

JAMES WOOD—Football Manager, Camera Club, Drama Shoppe, Honor Roll, "Pirates' Log" Staff, "Mrs. McThing."

*Talents he has that do not show,
Yet he's the type of fellow we like to know.*

DON WOODRUFF—Annual Band Concert, Band.

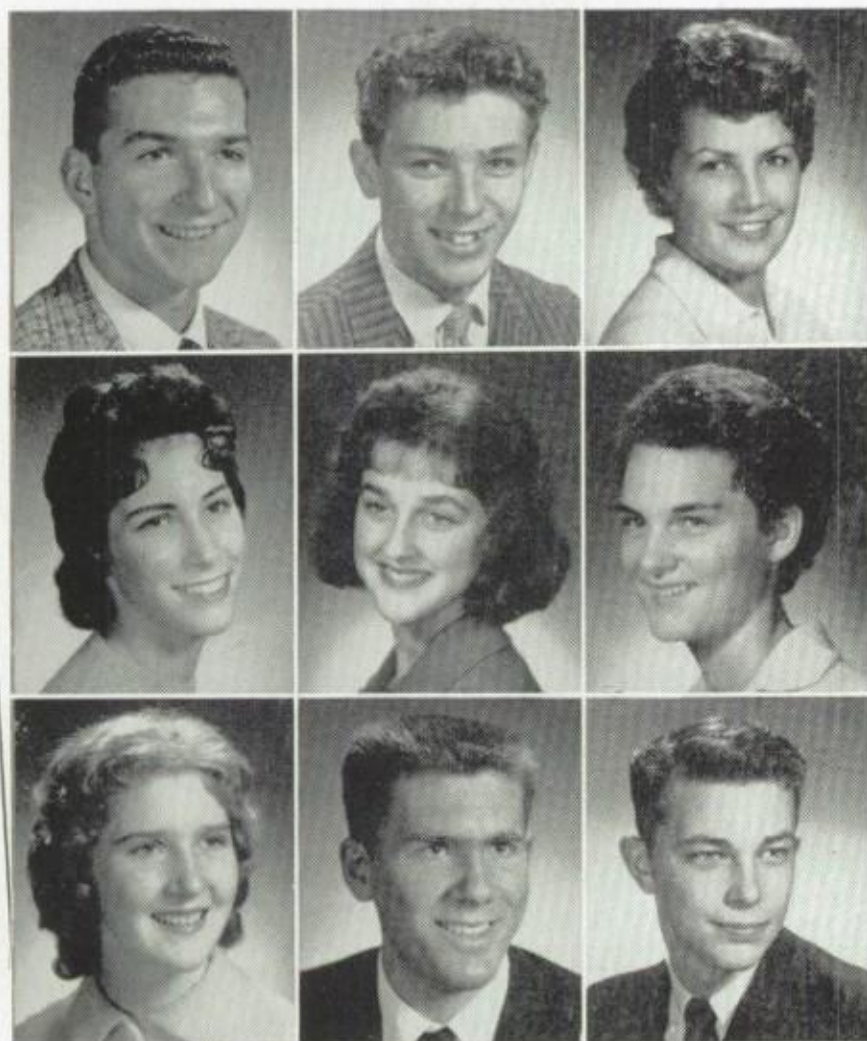

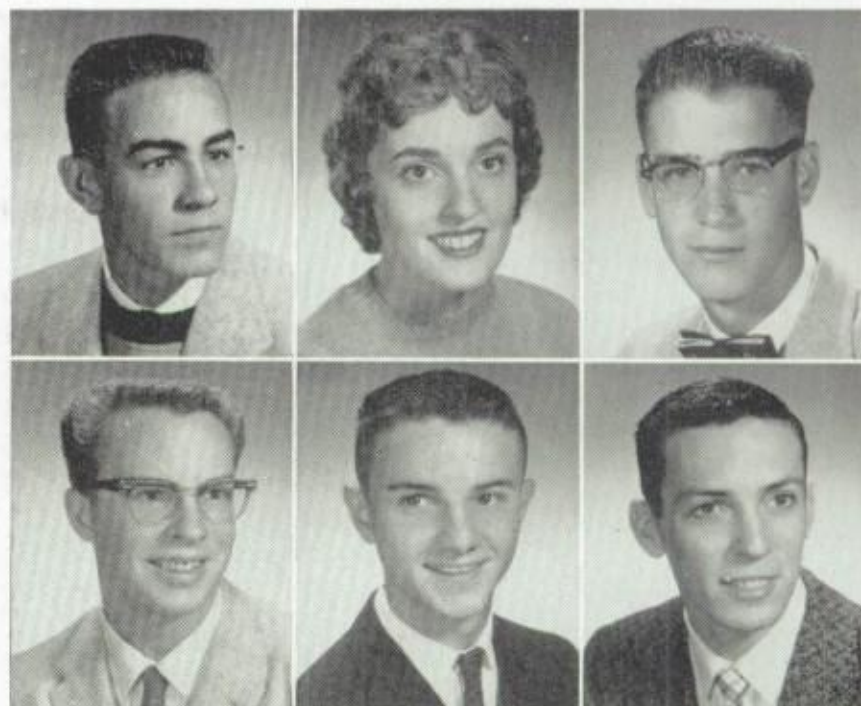

*Give a man a car to take apart,
And he'll work with music in his heart.*

JERRY WOODS—

A cheerful cherub who would rather be Riding a horse than driving a Model "T".

TOBY WOODS—D. E. C. A.

His car was his life. Did it not whisk him away from the classroom?

STEVE WOODWARD—A Cappella, Big H, Knights of the Cutlass, Representative Assembly, Gymnastics, "Pirates' Log" Staff.

*He swings through the air with the greatest of ease—
An accomplished gymnast, born to please.*

LARRY WRIGHT—

*A man of decision he appeared to be,
With a talent for writing to a marked degree.*

MARIANNE WRIGHT—A Cappella, Annual Band Concert, C.A.S.H., Glee Club, Honor Roll, Pep Club, Publicity Club, Triple H, SPADES, Torch.

The sparkle in her eye matched the sparkle on her finger.

PAT YARNO—Honor Roll, Girl-of-the-Month, Panorama, Pep Club, "Pirates' Log" Staff, Publicity Club, Representative Assembly, Ticketeers, Torch, Yell and Song Club, Mother-Daughter Hour, Homecoming Committee Chairman, Class Day Committee.

As lovely as the first flower of spring.

LINDA YOUNGQUIST—F.T.A., Honor Roll, Library Club, Make-Up Club, Pep Club, Representative Assembly, Torch Club President, Foreign Exchange Club.

The veiled curtain of her eyes advanced.

PAT YOTZ—Re-entered from W. Fresper Clark High School, Westbury, Long Island, New York, in her junior year. Girls' Playday, H.G.A.A., Pep Club, Homecoming Committee, Publicity Club, SPADES, Torch, Yell and Song Club.

Good deeds are doubled by good words.

JEAN YUHAS—

*Her faults were few and far between,
And the ones she had were never seen.*

LARRY ZANE—

*Slow and sure, the safest gait;
All things come to those who wait.*

JACK ZIELSDORF—

*This boy is known as a three letter star—
One for girls, one for work, and one for his car.*

WALLY ZENT—

You'd be tired too, if you had to get up in the morning.

MARLENE ZORICH—Make-Up Club, Pep Club, Yell and Song Club.

She captured mankind with her exotic looks.

LATE ENTREES:

DAVE ERICKSON—Entered from South Kitsap High School, Bremerton, Washington, in his senior year.

*A likely lad who has a good start
On the road to fame in commercial art.*

SHARON BROCKERMANN—Re-entered from Mt. Rainier High School, Seattle, Washington, in her senior year.

*Some are here for a year and a day
Some just pause along their way.*

JANICE HENNE—Entered from Alaska in her senior year.

*Her eyes are lights that shine so bright
They look like stars on a frosty night.*

ISABELLE JOHNSON (Izzie)—Re-entered from Roosevelt High School, Seattle, Washington, in her senior year. Junior Varsity Yell Staff, Ticketeers.

*It seems she hangs upon the cheek of night,
Like a rich jewel in Ethiopia's ear.*

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS • Top Row: Gordon Gray, Dick Burgess. Middle Row: Jerry Hewitt, Steve Hitchcock. Bottom Row: Craig Collette, Dave Hon.

“The Days of Golden Promise”

ALTHOUGH it took twelve years to collect the many “frequencies,” the long-awaited “record” of the Class of 1960 entered its final stages with the approach of graduation week.

The complete album was concluded by a selection of three memorable experiences. Baccalaureate was the first. The Reverend David C. Newquist, of the West Side Presbyterian Church, spoke at the service. Mrs. Donald L. Weyand (Dawn Bliss, of the Class of 1947) played a cello solo, and Mr. Joe Paolino sang. The A Cappella Choir also provided special music.

On Class Day the three classes assembled for the last time. The gymnasium was attractively decked in purple and lavender, the class colors, and lilacs, the class flower. The class prophecy and statistics were read, awards were bestowed upon deserving students, and the Senior Class poll was presented.

The climax of twelve years’ work finally came on commencement night. Accompanied by the nostalgic strains of “Pomp and Circumstance” the graduating Class of 1960 filed into the gym in caps and gowns to receive their diplomas. The question, “Who Will We Be?” was discussed by the six class speakers.

The record has been cut, waxed, and distributed to the world. Its acceptance and success depend upon the continued good quality of the artists’ production.

Intermediate Notes

RAPIDLY climbing the scale to success, the Junior Class found few discordant notes in the composition that made up this year's activities.

Skillfully directing them this year have been the class officers: Paddy Cooper, president; Stan Titus, vice-president; Pam Durga, secretary; and Steve Thomas, treasurer. Guiding the students on to accomplish the goals and expectations of their high school years were the ever-patient and willing advisers, Mr. Dale Linebarger and Mr. Donald Simpson. Mary Ellison, Claire Ringdahl, Mike Miller and Kim Morgan represented the best of the group on the Girls' Club and Boys' Club Cabinets, respectively. Doreene Quealey had the honor of being chosen junior Girl-of-the-Month. Royalty was also among the class. Claudette Harris reigned over the football season as the lovely Homecoming Princess.

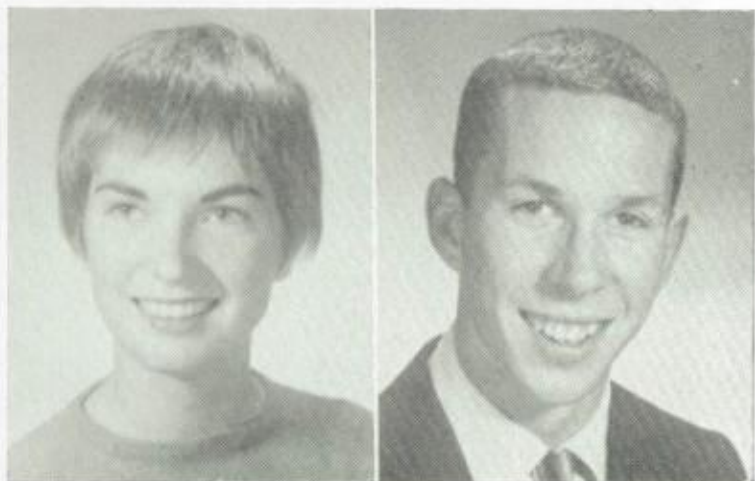

Having achieved Grand Honor Roll in their first semester were Suzie Beaupain, Bruce Buckingham, Craig Knapp and Sally Rollefson. Also in the scholastic field were eighty-seven juniors who made honor roll. In the field of sports nine junior boys received their varsity letters in football, as did five in basketball. The teams were backed all the way by the juniors on the Yell and Song Staffs: Jackie Angle, Pat Wolff, Mary Williams, Bonnie Rose and Sam Hoffine.

Mr. Donald Simpson, Pam Durga, Mr. Dale Linebarger.

Jackie Angle, Nancy Simpson.

Pam Durga, secretary; Steve Thomas, treasurer.

in Harmony

Splashing forward to victory with the swimming team, four juniors received their letters: Steve Thomas, Stan Stanley, George Sickie, and Doug Fitch. Bruce Zimmerman was the most outstanding junior on the gymnastic team and added a great number of points to Highline's score in the Northwest AAU Meet.

As a climax to last year, the Classes of '60, '61, and '62 voted in the annual student body and Boys' and Girls' Club elections. The results were extremely rewarding. Qualified juniors were elected as student body officers, as were the future members in Boys' and Girls' Club. To these positions of responsibility as student body officers were elected: Mike Miller, president; Jack Sonnichsen, vice-president; Doreene Quealey, secretary; and Shannon McCarthy, treasurer. The Girls' Club officers-elect were: Claire Ringdahl, president; Mary Ellison, vice-president; Bonnie Arnold, secretary; and Pam Pollock, treasurer. Fred Goodpaster was elected to lead the Boys' Club as president. Steve Thomas followed suit as vice-president. Next in line were Corey Benston as secretary and Bud Mount as treasurer.

With graduation in their sights, the mighty juniors have thus reached high "C", and have once again shown their ability to prepare themselves for the future.

Juniors in Action

BANDAGING up the wounds of many Highline Pirates, the Nurse's Aids have thus kept the Buccaneers in tune. Their schedule was set up so that at least one or two of the girls were always there to help those in need of assistance. One of the big highlights of this year for them was the sponsoring of the Christmas Baskets in connection with Future Nurses of America.

NURSE'S AIDS • Standing: Stecker, Hale, Seth, Hollingsworth, Stevens. Seated: O'Brien, Julin, Williams

DRIVING a motor vehicle intelligently has become an essential skill in America today. Highline juniors were given instruction to this end under Mr. Faccone, Mr. DeRoin, and Mr. Fowler. The Junior Class has, therefore, acquired D.D.T.—defense driving tactics.

DRIVING • Mr. Faccone, Rod Mendenhall, Cheryl Schley, Dave Tunnell.

RIVALRY in the balcony! !

Sadness filled the hearts of many Highline students at the sudden death of Jim Daugherty, an outstanding sophomore leader. Jim held the office of Student Body Secretary at Puget Sound Junior High in his freshman year and this year was the sophomore representative to Torch.

AS THE record begins to turn, the phonograph's needle picks up several blending sounds. This is comparable to Highline's Sophomore Class in the fall of 1959. Led by Steve Darland, "main speaker," Gaye Kesler, "auxiliary speaker," Mary Ann Curry, "recorder," and Diane Bolke, "financial agent," the Class of '62 held great promise of becoming full quality tones.

To promote the newly formed and immediately successful sophomore teams, Hep Club was organized under the direction of Mr. Lou Tice. Officers elected were Marsha Wagner, Jeanie Raichle, and Marion Parker, while the Hep Club cheers were led by the well qualified sophomore song and yell leaders Sheryl Coburn, Nancy Blaskowski, Marji Burdine, Mary Lee Schomaker, Jackie Arnold, Sally Meurling, Sally Ramsay, and Chris Johnson.

Few cries of victory were sung for the accomplishments of Highline's athletes this year; however, future scores look brighter with the number of returning lettermen. Hugh Tice and Roger Bennett charged through opposition for Highline's varsity football squad; Ed Bruce totaled points for a letter in swimming; while Bob Willis and Craig Knutson came through for track.

... Are Busy in Activities, Too

Throughout the year, tenth grade athletes were also participating strongly on the "B" teams of many athletic activities.

Several sophomore girls garnered letters through girls' sports. The new members of H.G.A.A. are Bobbie Butz, Barbara Callas, Joyce Dragoo, Ann Green, Judy Gross, Patty King, Ann Mathison, Delores Rikansrud, Terry Woods, and Dale McClements.

Representing feminine and masculine views for the Class of '62 respectively, were Sue Schieber, Girls' Club sophomore representative and Reed Anderson, Bob Winquist, Herb Grisham, and Dorn Porter, Boys' Club sophomore representatives. Later in the year Judy West was the popular choice for Girls' Club "girl" of March.

Not to be forgotten were the quality sounds amplified when the new National Honor Society members were announced. Sophomores recognized were: Mike Aicken, Christy Blair, Gloria Duncan, Phil Fleming, Marilynne McCarty, Sharon O'Brien, Christie Peterson and Tom Stoner.

As the year came to a close the live little "notes" of Highline had made themselves heard.

Mr. Howard Jakey, director

"AND THE BAND PLAYED ON" — with Mr. Howard Jakey as director. How many times in the past years this familiar figure has stood before the students waiting for the tune-up that precedes the performance, and how many times have the music lovers said "Well done" when the final note closed the program.

SENIOR ORCHESTRA • HIGH FIDELITY was the theme of the Highline Senior Orchestra from the opening moments on the football field until the curtain dropped at Baccalaureate. During the holiday season, the orchestra and band marched in the Santa Claus Parade, performed for the students at the Thanksgiving Day Assembly, and presented a Christmas Concert.

In February, the String Ensemble represented the Highline orchestra at the Western Washington Solo and Ensemble Contest, returning with an excellent rating. The same day, several orchestra members supplemented the festival orchestra and the All-State Orchestra.

During April, the orchestra entertained the Mt. Rainier High School student body in an exchange concert. Next they travelled to Wenatchee for the Apple Blossom Festival and to Bellingham for the Tulip Festival.

Assisting Mr. Jakey were President Alfreda Norman, Vice-President Mary Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer Madelyn Cameron, and librarians Marilyn Nicholson and Verdie Norman.

SENIOR BAND • The band kicked off their season with their traditionally lively football half-time shows. Paced by drum major Jon Jacobson, at each home game, the musicians accompanied their own colorful formations. The band's other fall activity, election of officers, resulted thus: Neil Rush, president; David Gehrt, vice-president; Diane Frederickson, secretary-treasurer; Bob Storwick, senior representative; Dave Rockafeld, junior representative; and Phil Fleming, sophomore representative. The annual Santa Claus parade terminated the band's marching season with a flourish.

Already, however, they had begun concert appearances with the Veterans' Day assembly; and had swung into earnest preparation for the Winter Concert, "Hands Across the Sea." Band members took this opportunity to display their specialties—the trumpet trio with Bob Storwick, Paul Thorndike, and Lee Mohler; Dave Gehrt's trombone solo, and Neil Rush conducting the Pep Band.

In springtime their fancy turned to thoughts of parades — the music makers journeyed to Bellingham and Wenatchee to show their marching skills. They wound up 1959-60 with appearing in the first annual District Wide Combined Concert held on Memorial Field.

With Them it Was Always . . .

*Of all the arts beneath the heaven
That man has found or God has given
None draws the soul so sweet away
As music's melting mystic lay.*

—Hogg

Mr. Glenn Haggan

MAN HAS always responded emotionally to the power of music; consequently, no subject in school lies closer to the heart than A Cappella. This year the music department made itself felt first when the members participated in the Memorial Field re-dedication ceremony and on November 11, in the Armistice Day Assembly. Amplifying their season, the choir again appeared in the annual Thanksgiving Assembly.

The Christmas season opened to the exuberant melody of Handel's famed "Halleluiahs Chorus." The program was recorded by radio station KAYO and played on Christmas Day for Seattle's listening enjoyment. The choir caroled during the festivities at the Seattle-Tacoma Airport, Wesley Gardens, and in the surrounding neighborhood.

In February, a theater party was formed to attend the Roger-Wagner Chorale. At the All-State Choir Concert held in Wenatchee, Sandy Pelton, Becky Rottler, Pam Reed, Donna Williams, Bruce Black, and Ned Bergman represented Highline. Without a discord the annual Music Festival Choir at Franklin Pierce High School included fourteen A Cappella songsters.

For the first time in twenty-five years the choir's turntable ran off a musical love story, The Lowland Sea. Gil Bateman and Donna Williams were the main fuses. The traditional singing at the Baccalaureate Service and at the Spring Concert switched off the season.

The dial turners were as follows: Sandy Pelton, president; Gil Bateman, vice-president; Donna Williams, secretary; and Ken Gehring, treasurer. Becky Rottler served as accompanist.

... a Grand Night for Singing

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE • "Maids in Blue" were added to the Highline High School music department for the first time this year. This attractive group of girls started their series of performances at the Memorial Football Game in November. They performed at the Christmas concerts and at the Father-Daughter Banquet. Some of their outside functions included singing at Madigan Hospital, Veteran's Hospital, the Rotary Club in Burien, and at a choral contest in Tacoma in which they received an excellent rating.

BOYS' GLEE • "Me father kept a boarding house, Hala-Balou-Balay." These were the first words of the Boys' Glee when they made their initial appearance in the Homecoming assembly.

During the course of the year the boys not only were students, but also teachers when they went to Gregory Heights school to give a demonstration of four-part harmony to the fifth and sixth graders. They also sang in the Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, in "The Lowland Sea" musical program in April, and at an exchange assembly at Mt. Rainier High School.

GIRLS' GLEE • The Girls' Glee Club performed at the Memorial Football Game in November, at the Thanksgiving Assembly, and at the Christmas Concerts. A music assembly began the spring season. To climax the year, the group entered the choral contest at Clover Park in Tacoma, where they achieved a superior rating! The Spring Concert, the "Curtain Raiser" program before "The Lowland Sea," and the Highline District Music Festival were the final performances of the year.

“Make Believe”

THE HOUSE lights dimmed, the audience settled themselves into a more comfortable position and the curtain rose slowly on another Drama Shoppe production. Many months of intensive work had preceeded this event.

It was a long long trail that led to the final production, for early in the fall a quest for new members was started with the only prerequisite for the amateur being a little talent and a sincere interest in drama. Next came the most difficult task, the choice of a play and its production. During this time play after play and review after review was read. Finally after each was submitted to the dramatists, these would-be actors chose the “Great Big Doorstep.” The success of the play then depended on the concentrated effort of Drama Shoppe. Committees began work on tickets, costumes, lighting and staging, publicity, prompting, properties, and directing. The final result was a successful two and one-half hour performance.

In between their productions of plays, Drama Shoppe had theater parties, read and reviewed more plays, sought new members, and gained experience in acting and working behind the scenes. Another division of the group consisted of those who became members of the Thespians, an honor society for gifted dramatists.

The bi-monthly meetings were presided over by Stan Titus, president; Jim Wood, vice-president; Pauline Dutcher, secretary; and Suzanne Semprez, treasurer. Miss Dorothy Shipley served as faculty adviser.

From the Land of Dixie

TRAVELING far into the swamp lands of the South for dramatic scenes, this year's all-school play cast chose for their production The Great Big Door Step, by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.

Under the direction of Miss Dorothy Shipley, the players rehearsed diligently for almost two months. The result—one of the best plays ever staged at Highline.

Sometimes hilarious, other times pathetic, the play involved a stabbing, money, Easter lilies, and the prized "Great Big Doorstep," which appeared quite out of place in front of a humble shack. The plot revolved around the Crochets, a Louisiana swamp family. The Crochets had a serious problem; namely, "Commodore," the father. The Commodore—in reality, Steve Hitchcock, had a tremendous appetite and an unconquerable laziness. This placed the family in a common situation—the state of being broke. From the day that Arthur—played alternately by Bob McGinnis and Owen Moss—fished the doorstep out of the river, big plans started brewing to get a house to suit the doorstep. When opportunity knocked, the inevitable money problem stood in the way.

Mrs. Crochet—portrayed by Janyce Crilly—tried desperately to keep her family together. Secretly, she raised lilies in the canes so she could sell the bulbs. Later her lilies saved the day.

There were other problems facing the Crochet family besides money. Topal—doublecast with Diane Derby and Liz Tuckness—unhappy because her father made her break her engagement to the villainous barber, Tayo (Stan Titus), wanted to go to "Naw'lins" to get a job in Woolworth's. Evvie, her inquisitive sister—Colleen Woodward and Ann Killoran alternately—claimed Topal was just afraid she was going to be an old maid. This seemingly carefree sprite also had her problems. She was not as positive as her mother that she wanted to join the convent and become a nun. Arthur, having made up his mind to quit school, got a job in the "Naw'lins" market driving a truck.

Other little Crochets were the mischievous twins, Elna and Fleece, played by Bonnie Cook and Lynda Eldridge, and little T. J., who obviously was played by a rubber doll. Faithful Uncle Dewey, a river pilot, who tried to help by donating false checks, was played by Morris Smith.

Others featured were: Tobin, a Texan hero portrayed by Tom Mickelsen; Mrs. Dupre, the snoop land-lady (Pat McClure), and the florist, Mrs. Beaumont Crochet, who saved the day by buying our Mrs. Crochet's lilies. This enabled the Crochets to buy a house to go behind their doorstep, and to keep their family together.

Arts of Deception and Production

STAGE CREW • Dedication to the job of improving the stage and stage productions was the keynote of the group's efforts throughout the year. Under the supervision of the adviser, Mr. Harry Lemon, general manager Robert Schmitz, and art director Fred Munich, the stage crew ably constructed sets for the Homecoming assembly and the all-school play, "The Great Big Doorstep."

In addition to these special duties, stage crew responsibilities included lighting and stage maintenance, and countless other behind-the-scene activities necessary for smooth stage productions.

MAKE-UP CLUB OFFICERS • Carol Ann Schertzer, vice-president; Bruce Black, president; Sue Beebe, secretary-treasurer.

MAKE-UP CLUB • With all the enthusiasm of budding young artists, the sixteen members of Make-Up Club combined their talents and abilities to make the past year more successful than ever. Be the task mustache renovating or eyebrow repairing, the group was continually ready for anything. Miss Claudia Nichols, adviser, supervised the preparation of performers' features and gave valuable professional advice. Officers guiding the club were: Bruce Black, president; Carol Ann Schertzer, vice-president; and Sue Beebe, secretary-treasurer.

Pirates Approve Galley Combo

FOR THE cooks, the job of feeding hungry Highline students and faculty each day was a big responsibility. Every morning at eleven o'clock the first starving horde descended upon the cafeteria and always they were greeted by a savory aroma that announced lunch was ready. For only thirty cents a Pirate could buy a pleasing well-balanced meal which gave him the strength needed to face his afternoon classes. In addition to cooking, the ambitious cooks dispensed hundreds of milkshakes and ice cream cones during the lunch periods. Without the cooks' cheerful service, a few hundred Pirates would have gone hungry.

Their Brooms Sweep Clean

CLEANING up after eighteen hundred students was the job tackled by the industrious custodians everyday this year. They spent their time sweeping, cleaning, polishing, dusting, and scrubbing their way through the buildings in an effort to make the school inhabitable. Each morning the Bucs returned to tidy classrooms with spotless blackboards, empty wastebaskets, and neat floors. Besides sweeping endless halls, the friendly janitors were always on hand in the cafeteria to mop up between lunches. They could be counted on to keep the components running smoothly. Thanks to their conscientious maintenance, Highline really shone when the Pirates came back from vacations.

The Best Things in Life Are Free

GAINING confidence and experience through leadership, many students participated in the outdoor education program at Camp Waskowitz, near North Bend, Washington. During the two eight-week sessions—one in the fall, the other in the spring—sixth graders, their teachers, and high school leaders went to the camp for a week of study during which they received a first-hand knowledge of conservation, forestry, wild life, nature lore, and weather—all of which couldn't be obtained from classroom study. High school leaders were chosen from the applications of students who had the attributes of scholastic ability, citizenship, character, and leadership required for the job. The duty of the counselor was to take a group of unpredictable sixth graders under his wing to instruct, guide, advise, and watch over them.

The week at camp was filled with activities of every kind. These nature enthusiasts enjoyed hikes to the saw mill, the beaver dam, the shingle mill, and the nature trail. When they were not attending the outdoor classrooms, they were engaged in group activities like square dancing, nature hunts, camp fires, sports, art work, and competition for Smokey Bear. Good food and plenty of it, camp songs, and, believe it or not, K. P., all helped to bring the campers, teachers, and counselors together in a wholesome atmosphere of learning, good times, and companionship.

TOP SCHOLARSHIP RECORDS have won fourteen seniors, eleven juniors, and eight sophomores membership in National Honor Society. This organization was established three years ago for students with a 3.7 grade point average, upon selection by a faculty advisory group.

Activities this year included a "Beatnik" party, an assembly, and an exchange dinner party with Evergreen High School. The assembly, with its theme of promoting interest in scholarship, highlighted the year. The speaker, Mr. A. J. Somasundaram, an educator from Hyderabad, India, compared the problems of education in India with those of the United States. The exchange dinner at Highline was a repeat performance of last year's success.

Leaving Gold Records Behind Them

TORCH CLUB reached a new high this year as more and more students met membership requirements. At the top of the ladder were the sophomores, with eighty-two members; next, the juniors, with forty-eight; and finally, the seniors with forty-two.

In order to earn membership in Torch, students were required to maintain a 3.0 or better grade point average and participate in enough extra-curricular activities to receive two activity points. In recognition of their achievement, the members were sold Torch pins, which designated first, second, or third year membership.

Leading the group on to achieve their purpose of bettering scholarship and promoting service to the school were the officers: Linda Youngquist, president; Babs Davis, vice-president; Linda Kowing, secretary; Nancy Graves, treasurer; Jim Daugherty, sophomore representative; and Miss Lydia Palmer, faculty adviser.

Torch members were privileged, in the annual Torch assembly, to be addressed by Mr. Harold Mansfield, noted author of the book Vision, who spoke on his recent trip to Russia. A second assembly concluded Torch activities for the year with the election of next year's officers.

KNIGHTS OF THE CUTLASS • Service above self was the motto of these twenty-six senior boys who patrolled the halls of Highline.

Early in the spring of 1959, the candidates went through a rigorous initiation and examination period. Competition was keen, and the selections were based on individual character, friendliness, and academic record of the examinees.

Their presence was felt at all basketball and football games, track meets, and assemblies where they were on hand if needed. Although their job may have seemed small and insignificant, the service performed by the Knights of the Cutlass greatly facilitated the efficient running of school affairs.

Special recognition went to Mr. Lowell Mason, faculty adviser, and the Cutlass officers: Bob Gilbert, skipper; John Raver, first mate; and Allen Adametz, scribe.

STANDARDS COMMITTEE • Headed by Mike Darland, the Standards Committee devoted the year to promoting good citizenship and a better relationship among the students. With the never ending help of Mr. Myers, faculty adviser, the group revised Highline's Code of Rules and Regulations. The committee proposed regulation school attire for most of the school functions following the games. Drinking and smoking were on the taboo list in any public gathering featuring school personnel.

The Board of Control will select the committee for next year and set a definite time and place for the meetings to be held. This year securing a time and place for meeting constituted this group's main problem.

STUDENT COURT • Good citizenship and interest in school functions were encouraged and promoted this year through the careful judgment of the twelve members, guided by Mr. Chester Read of the faculty. These officials, representing the three classes, included—seniors: Sandy Duncan, Jerry Hewitt, Jackie Culton, and Carolyn Suver; juniors: Jack Sonnichsen, Steve Thomas, Shannon McCarthy, and Sharon Atkinson; sophomores: Dean Sabey, Bob Winquist, Pat Leedy, and Diane Bolke, plus a recorder, Linda Pope.

A student who had violated a school regulation was asked to attend a meeting where his problem was fully discussed and a suitable penalty administered. These penalties were designed to help the student achieve a better understanding of good citizenship and school principles.

Refrains Across the Seas

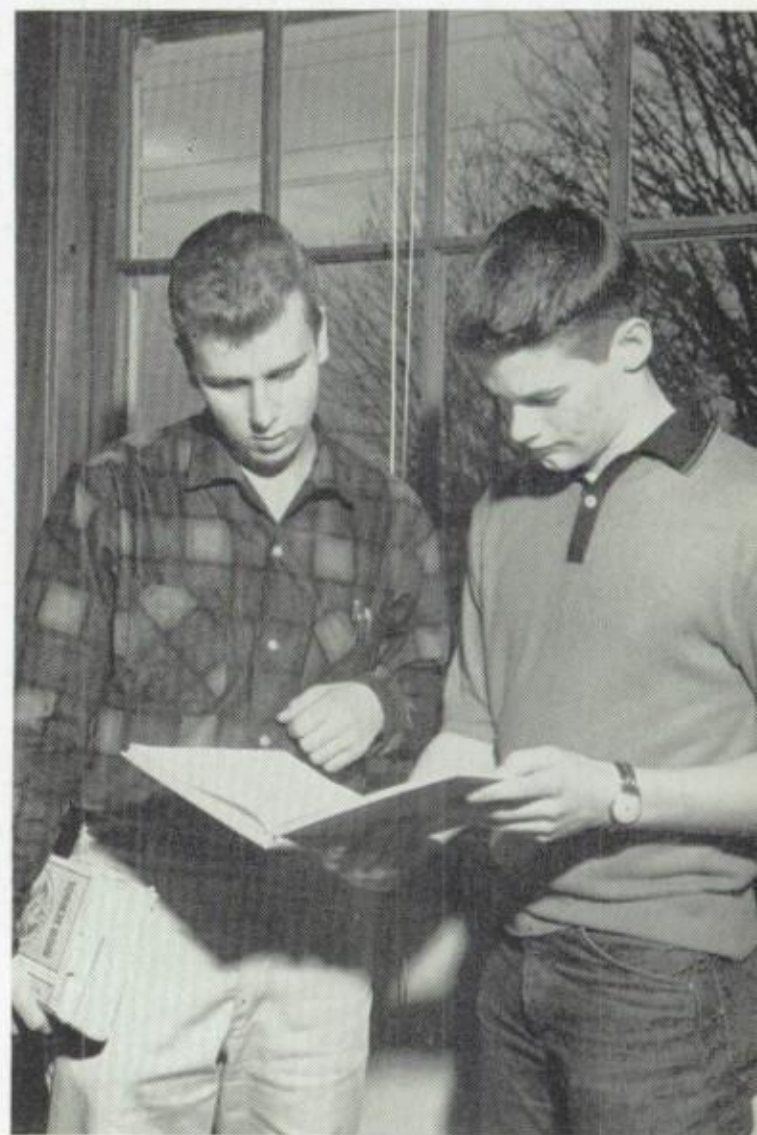

THE LATEST hit at Highline was Anders Lindquist, foreign exchange student from Harnosand, Sweden. He seemed to be the special property of the Foreign Exchange Club, but this group provided many opportunities for the students to become better acquainted with Anders and other foreign students in the district.

This club, under the guidance of Mr. John Eiland, worked in conjunction with the American Field Service. Outstanding activities of the year were the President's Ball, the Festival of Nations, and the Wide Wide World Variety Hour. The President's Ball, partly community sponsored, followed a foreign theme in its decorative layout. Ten murals of different countries in addition to brilliantly colored travel posters decorated the walls of the gymnasium.

The "Festival of Nations" was equally successful. During the afternoon of April 23, booths were displayed in the gymnasium typifying different countries. There were exhibits of foreign foods and games for the public enjoyment. The Variety Hour produced a most clever program with participation from people of Scotland, China, Switzerland, Japan, Spain, Hawaii, Ireland, and Germany. These activities were to support the program for next year.

As it was felt that much was gained from having a foreign student at Highline, the club expanded its program and sent Ross Roesler, a junior, to Argentina, where he studied for six months.

Through the efforts of the students, faculty, and community, it was hoped that a foreign exchange program could be established that would remain at Highline.

Words Have Power

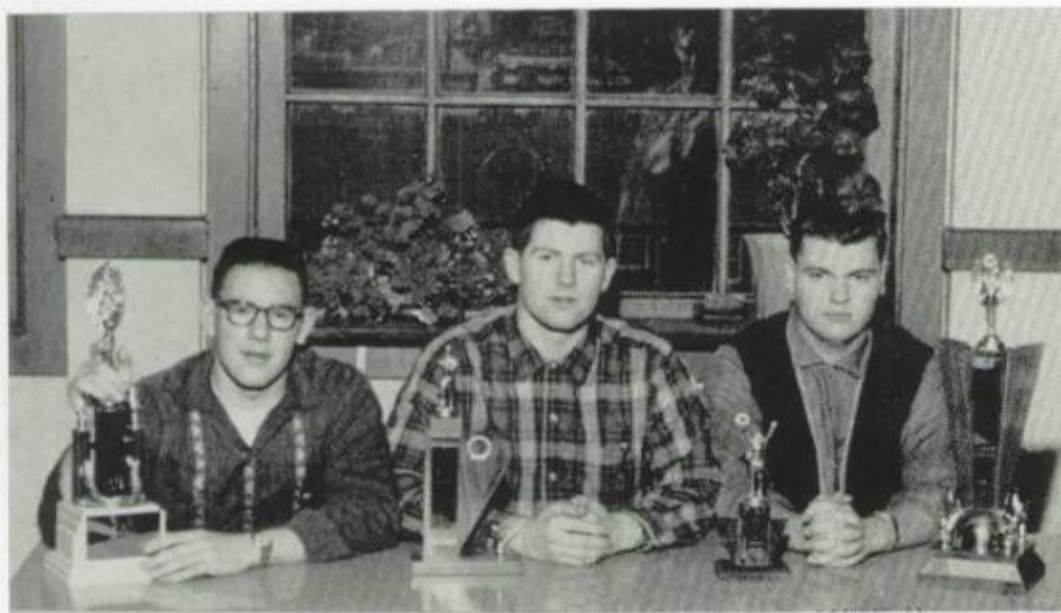

TO IMPROVE their quality of speaking, the debaters worked hard on this year's topic—be it resolved: "That the federal government should substantially increase its regulation of labor unions." This topic was debated all year in high schools throughout the nation. Guiding them through many precarious predicaments at the fast-moving and exciting tournaments was their enthusiastic adviser, Mrs. Richards.

Commencing the year was the debate workshop at the University of Puget Sound where high school debaters heard speakers from labor and management and enjoyed a demonstration debate. Later in October the first tournament, the Pacific Lutheran College Student Congress, saw Gordon Gray win the first place trophy and Craig Collette take fourth place honors. In January the diligent debaters attended the Seattle Pacific College tourney where Dale Bryant and Gordon Gray took first and second places, respectively, in radio speaking.

Traveling back to Pacific Lutheran College the team participated in another tournament, where Gordon Gray soloed the only victory, a first place trophy in extemporaneous speaking. Traveling again, this time to an enjoyable University of Puget Sound tournament, the team action was headed by Pat Akin and Mike Murray, as they were the only team to win all of their six preliminary rounds, only to lose a heart-breaker in the quarter finals.

As the yearbook went to press, the debaters were looking expectantly toward the last two events of importance, the National Forensic League tournament and the Washington State tournament. These should bring home more trophies to add to the ever-growing Highline collection.

Toward Wider Horizons

OPEN WONDERFUL new worlds . . . Wake up and read!

This was the theme for National Library Week; it could also be readily adopted as a motto for books, libraries, and readers the world around.

Members of the Library Club showed concern for their literary heritage by providing enlightening activities for the student body in addition to devoting many hours in assisting fellow students. To help support the Pirates Pen, its former "child", the Library Club held a book sale. During National Library Week the club used the American Library Association list to conduct a poll. The list was comprised of thirty-eight important books of the 1950's. Each book displayed pertinent influences and ideas at work in the world.

Members of the club traveled to Olympia to tour the new State Library. The extensive facilities and modern architecture displayed made the trip a gratifying experience.

The Library Club was fortunate to have several excellent speakers during the year. Lucile MacDonald, noted author and columnist of the Pacific Northwest, spoke at the Club's annual Book Week Tea. All who attended were privileged to acquire a better understanding of their community. The organization also presented Mr. Daschback of Chicago who spoke to the students and faculty on the "Great Books of the Western World."

As they concluded the many activities of a busy year, members of the Library Club had encouraged a greater number of Highline students to "Wake up and read!"

Made for Fun and Frolic

PEP CLUB membership reached Hi-Fi proportions this year as more and more students participated in club activities. Leadership was provided by Pat Rose, president; Tom Beffa, vice-president; and Joan Baggott, secretary-treasurer; with the assistance of faculty adviser, Mr. Hugh Emry.

Homecoming was an astounding success, even though the dance was held on the night after the game, which was contrary to tradition. The French theme, Retournez-Moi, permeated everywhere, and all were spell-bound at the coronation of Queen Bonnie Aparico, Junior Princess Claudette Harris, and Graduate Princess Rita Berg McIntosh.

With the completion of the club constitution, a need was felt for more internal organization within the club. To meet this need, the following positions were created and chairmen appointed: Publicity, Dorene Quealey; Sales, Nori Wesson; Dance, Ann Dougan, and Pins, Pat Rice and Pat Yarno.

“I Have Told Every Little Star”

USING THE wise maxim, “Advertising pays,” as its motto, the Publicity Club made a great contribution to the completion of many school-sponsored activities. Under the competent supervision of Mr. Larry Lemmel, Sharon Bacon, student manager, and Pat Johnson, assistant student manager, the group was led through many varied and interesting school functions.

A new program of reorganization was put into effect this year. The result was that this group became unique among the clubs at Highline. One of the points of this program was the elimination of a set membership. Anyone could belong. Moreover, all of the club business was handled during the noon hour. Members picked up the materials that they needed fourth period in Mr. Lemmel's room and made the posters and signs whenever time permitted. Assignments were given and if the work was not turned in the member was automatically dropped from the organization.

Publicity Club has done much to give a boost to the school's spirit. The different committees (also a part of the “new deal”) spent much of their time making posters advertising the different athletic and social events that took place, such as Homecoming, club meetings, football, basketball, baseball, track, gymnastics, swimming, tennis, golf, tolos, and of course, the Prom. Their main project was the attractive purple and gold one-way signs that could be seen in the halls. Publicity Club also took part in the Festival of Nations and painted many of the posters for it.

“RETOURNEZ-MOI, mon ami!” . . . Such were the words heard during Homecoming this year. The French flavor circulated everywhere since the theme was RETOURNEZ-MOI . . . French for “Return to Me”. Homecoming Queen Bonnie Aparicio welcomed all returning graduates and included them in her trip to France, accompanied by Claudette Harris, junior princess, and Rita Berg McIntosh, graduate princess. There they were entertained at a sidewalk cafe by talented and exciting performers, including a Can-Can chorus line in the true French tradition.

The French theme was extended to the annual Homecoming Dance, held traditionally at the Spanishm Castle. The entrance was decorated as a park, complete with bench and flower-cart.

The game, held the night before the dance, contrary to previous tradition, was a thrilling display of Buc courage. The Pirates held their own against Enumclaw, ending in a tie, 14-14. At the completion of the festivities, all returned to Highline and their respective homes with many wonderful memories of their “Return”.

Getting Ready for Production

USHERS • Rain or shine, snow or sleet, the Ushers were at this year's home football games and track meets to take tickets, seat people, and settle squabbles when two tickets for the same seat had been issued. Similar work was done during the basketball season. They passed out programs and assisted people in finding seats at the all-school play, Great Big Doorstep, and at the band concerts. Also, they were privileged to usher at the Sweet Adeline Barbershop Quartet Command Performance. Last but not least, still wearing the smile of service, they were on duty at Baccalaureate and Commencement. Mrs. Virginia Sletner was faculty adviser and Carla Dillon, president of this fine group.

TICKETEERS • Selling tickets and programs at athletic functions, plays, and concerts was the responsibility of this past year's group of Ticketeers. For faithful participation in these duties the girls were awarded points for Torch. Leaders of the group were Gloria Duncan, president; Judy Peterson, vice-president; and Carol Mitchell, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Floyd Ashcraft was faculty adviser.

PROJECTION CLUB • This year the cellophane passed through the projector some 5,000 times, for the projection crew was on call six periods a day, five days a week. Mr. Chester Read, faculty adviser, instructed classes in the many phases of Audio-Visual Aids. These pupils learned how to order films, clean and operate the projectors, splice films, and run record players and tape recorders. Only Harold Rickman and Bill Bauer were qualified to run the Carbon-Arc projector, which was used for noon movies, a Red Cross film, and to show the Rose Bowl game to the health classes.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB • Meeting the first and third Tuesdays of each month, the photography club participated in varied projects, including field trips to Snoqualmie Pass, Woodland Park, and the Chroma film processing laboratories. Guest Speakers showed them good picture-taking techniques combined with interesting slides from abroad: Miss Theda Lomax, from Europe; and Mrs. Mae Hunter, with pictures from Japan.

Officers for the year were Bob Casteneda, president; Bob Willott, vice-president; Lynn Hofman, secretary; and Bruce Martin, treasurer. Mr. Chester was the faculty adviser.

Recording Artists

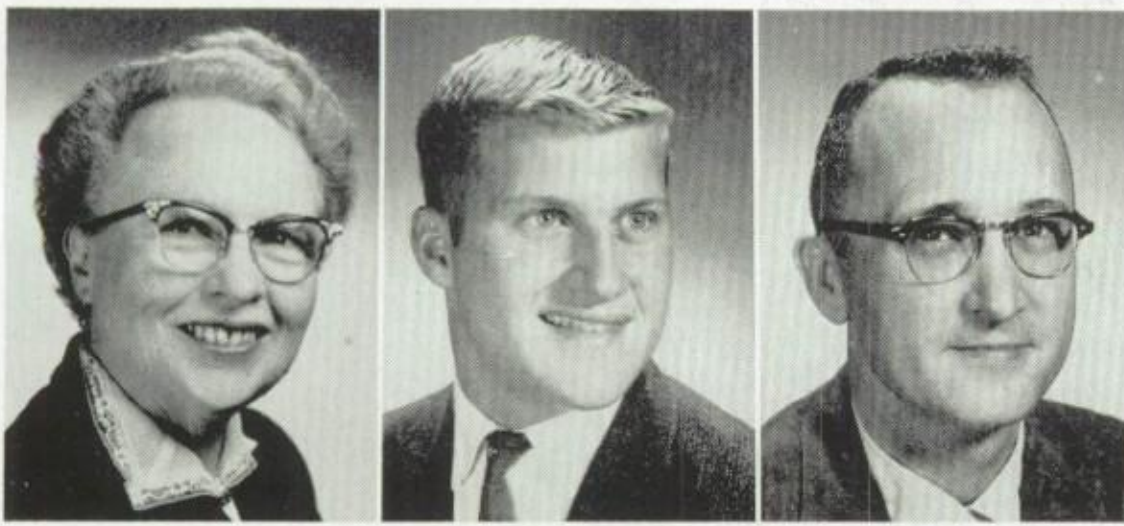

STRIVING for an album of enduring memories, the Pirates' Log staff certainly succeeded in producing a "golden record" this year. Mark Devine, editor, assisted by Ann Dougan, associate editor, supervised the "cutting" of the record.

In "studio" 161, advised by Mrs. Birdie Davis, Linda Schmutzer and Babs Davis could be seen working diligently on layouts, but being interrupted occasionally by Mike Brown, photographer, wanting to synchronize the video with the audio. Nori Wesson, business manager, kept the books, contracts, and correspondence in order. Cutting and pasting pictures took up much of the time for the junior and sophomore editors: Pat Stearns, Donna Wikstrom, and Sue Haines.

Other editors included Marilyn Brougham, who worked harmoniously with members of the staff trying to gather information about club names. Art editors, Pat Rose and Richard Peter, supervised by Mr. Donald Simpson, busily lettered and drew sketches for the "record." Bob Picou, John Cooley, and Cleone Davison were seen rushing through the halls of Highline gathering knowledge of boys' and girls' sports for the Log. Efficiently typed articles were produced by Pat Yarno, Pat Rice, Lynne Reddien, and Deanna Sorenson, typists. The final copy, after Kathy Spoor and Carol Bramel had proof-read it, was sent to the publishers, and returned to the Pirates in June as a sure "hit".

Bi-Monthly Hits

CHANGE was the popular chant of the "High Lines" staff during 1959-1960. This year saw the offset press being used to full advantage resulting in picture pages and reversed printing.

One of the major changes was a mid-semester adviser switch, as Miss Laurabelle Minter retired, turning over the duties of "High Lines" adviser to Mr. Wallace Woodworth. Mr. Woodworth saw fit to keep the same staff "dancing" during his second half of the year. Three student directors were Dave Hon, editor-in-chief; Faith Enyeart, news editor; and Lois Hackett, managing editor.

Jan Burkhart, second page editor, made her page a major piece with lively editorials, her column, "Side Glances," and other absorbing news. Sports editors, Steve Grant and Sharon Douglas, made their page live whether Pirate teams won or lost. The two had a column which was called, logically, "Double Feature." Faced with the task of making her back page look like more than just a "back page," Kris Dahlgard performed so well that readers had to look for the High Lines name plate to tell front from back. Important stories and pages were handled by four special "arrangers": Micki Schomaker, Suzy Harper, Diana Dixon, and Penny Just. Advertising was made "to sell" by Diane Elarinoff, ad manager. Mary Ann Turner, a junior scrooge, watched the High Lines' account book to make sure the accounts were well balanced.

Blessings from Service

SPADES • Sponsored by the Highline Kiwanis Club, SPADES was organized to help handicapped children through service projects, friendship, and promotion of public interest in their special therapy and education. They made therapeutic aids at evening workshop meetings, heard guest speakers, and visited a camp for afflicted children, which gave them further understanding of the problem they were fighting.

This year, the service group was led by Peggy Sebring, president; Karen Stamper, vice-president; and Julie Sander, secretary; with Mr. Shawl as adviser.

FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA • The primary purpose of this group was to give the members of the club an idea of what a career in nursing entails. Projects this year included movies, speakers, and trips to hospitals, sanitariums, and schools. Also on the agenda was helping the Blood Bank and doing volunteer work every Saturday at Burien General Hospital. The Future Nurses Club sponsored a mentally-retarded girl at Buckley and made her happy by visiting her, sending gifts and cards to her, and taking her on outings.

"Strains" of Concentration"

CHESS • Adventure, mystery, and intrigue—all intrinsic to the game of chess—were the drawing cards furnishing mental stimuli for a number of chess enthusiasts, who met Thursdays after school in Room 254.

Highline started its winning ways by whipping Mt. Rainier and ended the season with only one loss, beating West Seattle, Garfield, Cleveland, Sealth, O'Dea, and Seattle Prep. At press time the hardcharging chess team was riding high in the Puget Sound League play-offs with aspirations of winning first place and a handsome trophy. Officers were: Mike Mulchay, president; Gordon Gray, vice-president; and Sherry LaCombe, secretary.

SCIENCE • Spectacular demonstrations and educational movies were the highlights of this year's Science Club. Organized to stimulate the interest of students in science and mathematics, the group presented programs from every major science field at their bi-monthly meetings.

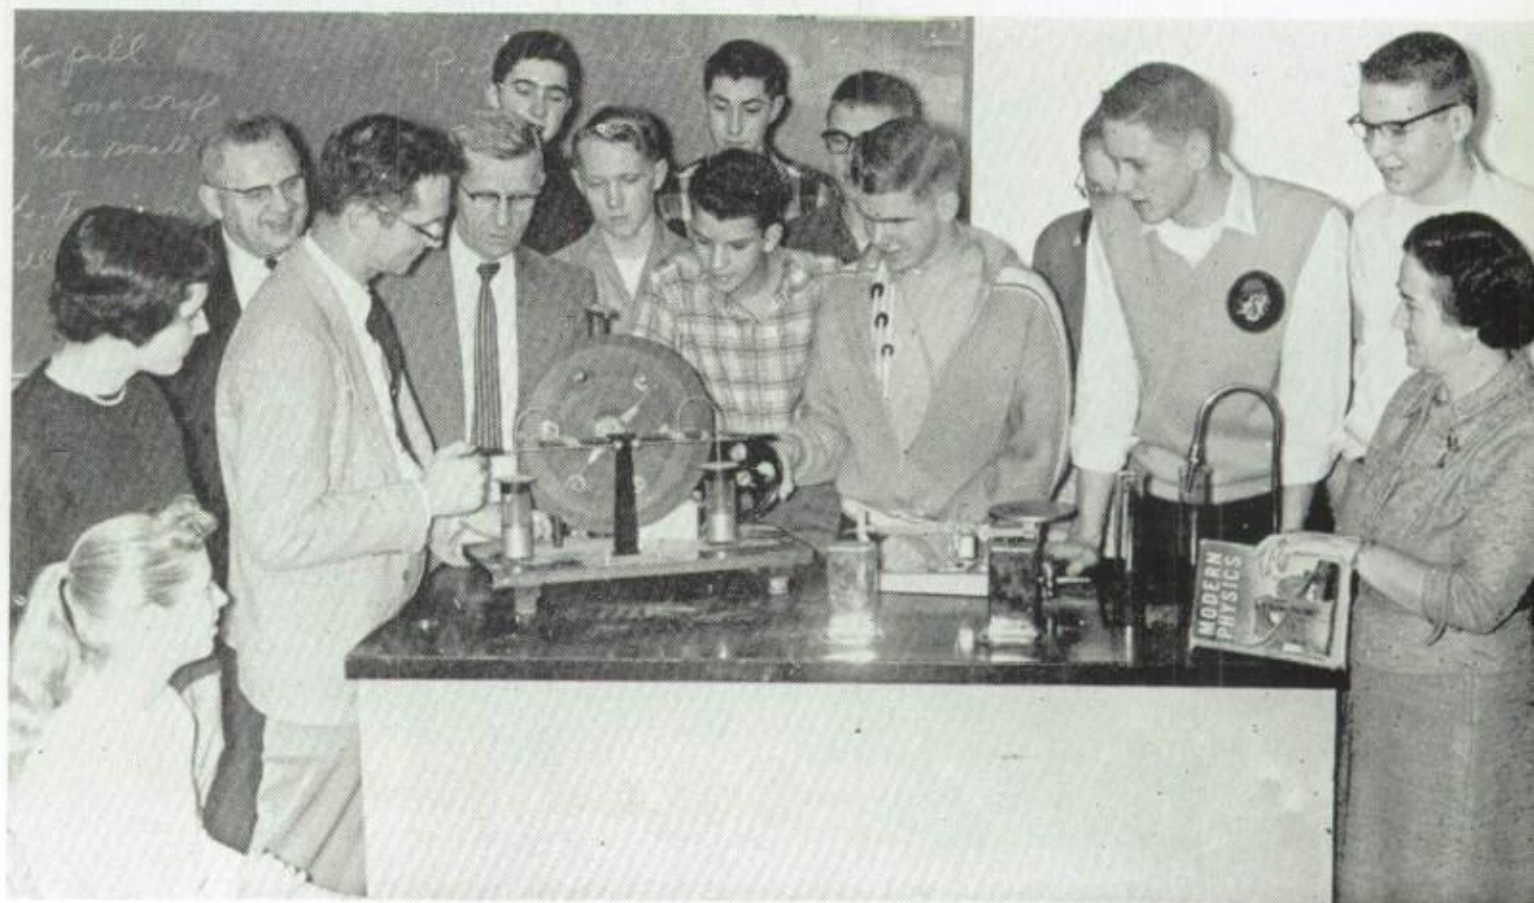

During the summer of 1959, three Science Club-sponsored students, Ross Roesler, Jim Clifton, and Dick Burgess, attended a two-week scholarship program at the Summer Science Institute of Oregon State College. These boys held several meetings, urging Highline juniors and sophomores to go during the 1960 program.

Officers of the club were: Jim Clifton, president; Dick Burgess, vice-president; and Lynda Ellis, secretary-treasurer. Faculty advisers were Mr. Putnam, Miss Cope, Mr. Herbage, and Mr. Olene.

BEGINNING another school year the Distributive Education classes were represented at Olympia, Washington, at the Governor's Conference by Jim Winters, Steve Rowe, and Adviser Floyd Ashcraft. Good representation brought results as Jim Winters, Distributive Education No. 2 President, was elected vice-president of the Washington club.

Class activities included window judging, playing host to the Evergreen and Foster clubs at a window judging contest and a get-together afterward to exchange ideas. A trip to Foster was taken by representatives of the two clubs to participate in a training session and workshop. The two Highline groups also took part in a state-wide Distributive Education project, a survey of all types of small business.

The Washington State Leadership Conference was one of the highlights of the year and representing Highline were six seniors and two juniors, who will participate in the organization next year. At this conference Highline's own Bruce Black took grand honors and won the State Leadership Conference Speech Contest. As this was the first time Highline had won this event, Bruce was left speechless.

The main project and highlight of the year was the Employer-Employee Banquet, bringing together a variety of vocations for a pleasant evening of food, fun, and entertainment.

BUILDING their program around the objectives and elements of service, activity, and the quest for knowledge, the Future Teachers of America gleaned new knowledge of the profession of education.

The year began with a potluck dinner at which Assistant Superintendent John Amend spoke on what the administration looks for in teachers. Officers were installed in candlelight ceremony. A strong representation attended the Delta Kappa Gamma tea at the University of Washington to hear Dr. George Brain, Bellevue district superintendent, who is recognized as an outstanding authority in his field. Several weeks later a lively group journeyed to the regional meeting in Mount Vernon, partaking in a spirited campaign for their own district-director candidate, Ronnie Alexander.

Forging on, they rendered service at P.T.A. meetings and district workshops, and viewed fine films on different aspects of teaching. The future teachers also explored diverse aspects of education through interesting speakers, including Mr. Jack Mackenroth, camp counselor, Coaches Lou Tice and Jim Shanley, and several teachers who had taught abroad.

The year ended with a district-wide banquet sponsored by the local chapter, and with members looking toward college or toward their ensuing high school years with new insight and inspiration.

Girls' Club 1960 . . .

SINGING "We have a wonderful feeling that everything's going our way," was the note by which the Girls' Club Cabinet began a successful year of strenuous activity. On the first day of school signs saying "Have information—will assist" were in evidence on each cabinet member to provide newcomers with a roving information bureau at all times. The cabinet started out sixteen strong, but added a member when Sue Schieber was elected to represent her sister sophomores. The girls chose gay red plaid collars and cuffs and red ties for regulation accessories to distinguish the cabinet members. There were also other changes. A new Girls' Club room was found for a meeting place and Miss Lou Wilder was chosen as adviser.

ing, fancy socks for the "Soc" dances, calendars for the coming year, and even shoe shines—all were offered by the girls. By this means the treasury was filled to nearly over-flowing.

Two Friendship Teas and dances were held to acquaint the new girls with each other and with the traditions of Highline. Early in the fall the Friendship Queen, Sharon Burcham, was crowned at a dance held in her honor in the gymnasium.

Other activities soon absorbed the interests and energy of the girls. The Father-Daughter Banquet on St. Valentine's Day was the girls' way of expressing devotion and appreciation to their homes, especially their fathers. Lucinda Spear's timely expression of what a father really means to girls led to the crowning of the father whose name was drawn as "King of Hearts." Mr. Rankin, the father of Mary Ann Rankin, received this honor. Later in the evening the fathers were entertained with a colorful program. Special highlights were a Hawaiian hula dance by Gwen Suver, Carolyn Suver, Adina Reynolds and Barbara Perry. Concluding the evening were girls ensemble and a humorous skit performed by girls and fathers picked from the audience.

To make the Mother-Daughter Tea a real tea, coffee, punch, and cookies were served in the gymnasium, which was colorfully decorated in warm tones of pink. The fountain in the center of the room was surrounded by tea tables kept busy with their service to the several hundred mothers who were honored that day.

Prior to the tea, dancing girls, music, and a style review in the auditorium met with enthusiastic response by the guests. Throughout the show, Sandy Pelton sang selections from "My Fair Lady" and a dance was presented by Jackie Culton, Candy Eyler and Dianna Behm.

“Thank Heavens for Little Girls”

EACH MONTH the Girls' Club selects the girl that they feel is most outstanding and bestows upon her the honor of being chosen Girl-of-the-Month. When making this selection many factors are taken into consideration. The candidate must have not only good grades and participate in school activities, but most important of all, she must be friendly. To be chosen Girl-of-the-Month is one of the highest honors that a girl could receive.

"FORWARD MARCH!" Yes, the Highline Pirettes certainly went forward this year. Under the command of Dale Schmeer, they met twice a week to prepare exhibitions for home basketball games, all-city drill competition, and the Blossom Time Festival in Bellingham.

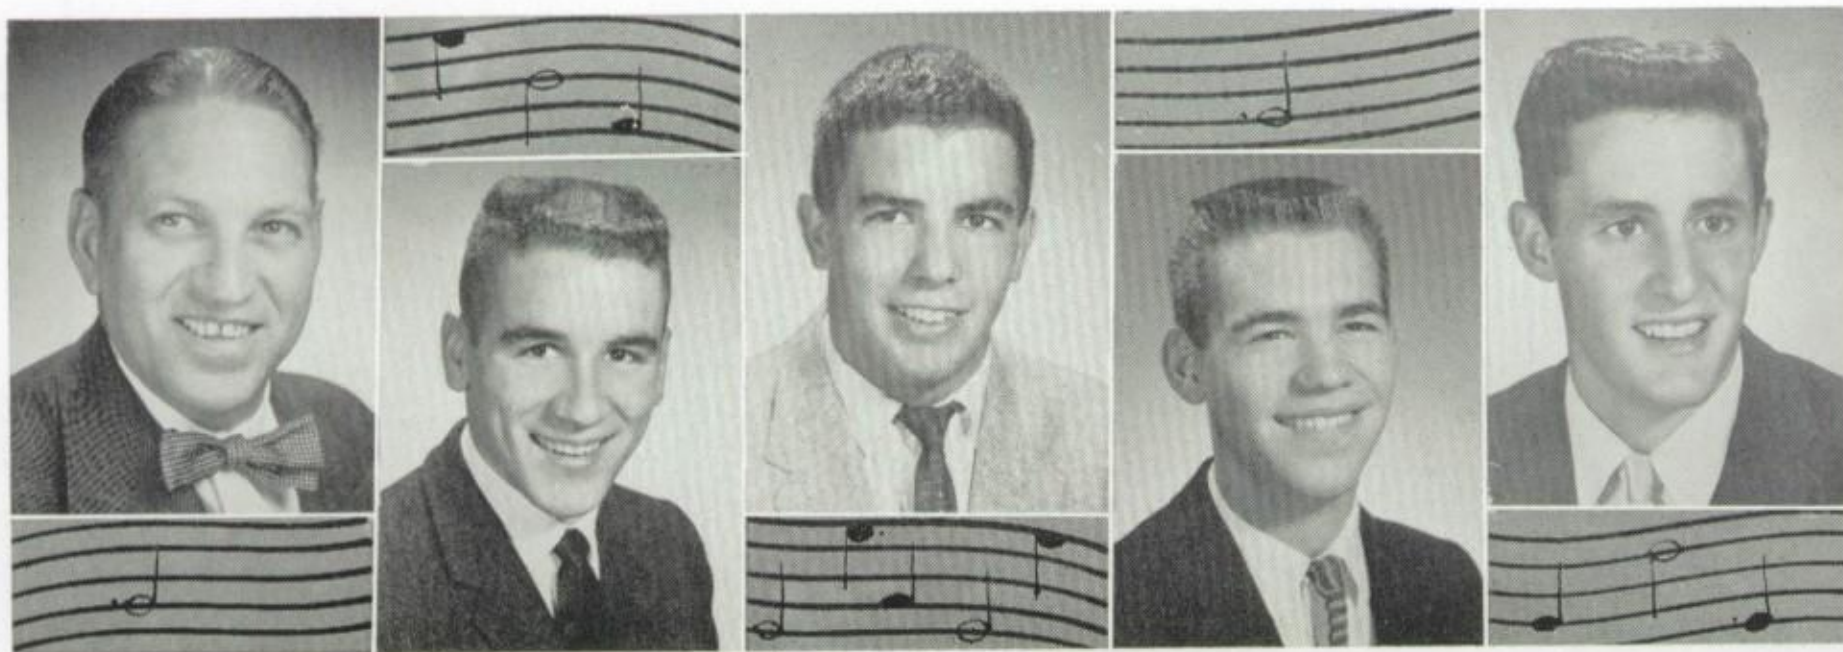

Miss Lochbaum, their adviser, worked overtime to outfit the girls with boots, skirts and gloves. She also secured opportunities for drill performances through correspondence with various towns and festival committees. The girls were privileged to receive instruction from Gunnery Sergeant Settle and Master Sergeant Blakey of the Marine Corps.

Big H at Attention

"REVIVAL of an old club" was the theme that governed the Pirate athletes as they elected new officers and re-drafted the club constitution. Big H, made up of varsity lettermen of major sports, worked for the advancement and recognition of lettermen as the leaders and organizers of the school. One of the projects these athletes undertook was helping the SPADES sponsor a party for the spastic children at Woodside School.

BOYS' CLUB PROVED SUPERIOR! • This year the boys promptly upheld their standard of being superior to the girls in school activities. Behind this claim, they started the year with the annual Halloween Cleanup. This made not only a more presentable district, but also a safer one for both pedestrians and automobile drivers. Over-hanging brush was cleared off road markers and blown-down signs were righted to their original positions. Behind the officers and their adviser, Mr. Peter Hallgrimson, was the Boys' Club Cabinet. This was composed of senior representatives Rich Rasmussen and Tom Ruttkay; junior representatives Kim Morgan and Mike Miller; and the sophomore representatives Herb Grisham, Reed Anderson, Bob Winqvist, and Dorn Porter.

Traffic Court had a successful year, even with the absence of speed violators. With a change in the state laws, licenses could be revoked for violation of the speed limit and the school traffic court did not have the jurisdiction to do the suspending, so speeding violators were not referred to the school's jurors. Nevertheless, the court had a flourishing business. Tickets poured in ranging from minor violations to nearly "hit-and-run."

Annually the Boys' and Girls' Clubs stage a football game for the promotion of school pep. This year an exciting, humorous version of the game was played. Who won? Naturally, it was a tie.

A little later, around Christmas, the Girls' Club challenged the Boys' Club to a canned food drive for needy families. The Girls' Club felt they had the drive won, but to their surprise a chain of boys came in with enough canned food to fill two barrels completely and win the drive.

the Year - 'Conquest'

The athletic lettermen's banquets were a big success this year. The club paid the way for the fathers of the lettermen, so that they could attend these banquets and see their offspring receive their rewards for devoted participation in athletics. In the spring the cabinet conducted their vehicle safety checks to assure safety to the community as well as to the students. These checks were under the guidance of the Washington State Patrol.

The boys set a new standard this year: that of wearing a white shirt and tie on Friday. Even sports coats and suits were worn during the winter months, which gave the boys and school a more presentable look.

Whenever anyone needed assistance with difficult tasks, the Boys' Club was there to help. These Pirate admirals rolled through the year with memories pleasing to one and all.

BOTH THE yell and song staffs worked hard this year to promote more school spirit at the games. Interesting pep assemblies helped generate enthusiasm on the part of the students. Lots of hard work combined with fun made this an exciting year for the cheerleaders. Yell queen and king, Nat Schomaker and Sam Hoffine, and the yell princesses: Patty Wolff, Jackie Angle, and Becky Rottler were heard introducing and directing new yells at assemblies and leading the screaming Bucs at games. Under song queen Deannie Dunbar and the Song Staff: Bonnie Rose, Mary Williams, and Bev Larson, the Pirates added several new songs to their repertoire. One of the high spots of their busy year was the Yell and Song Conference at Puyallup. There they learned about leadership and game etiquette.

Mrs. Sletner and Mrs. Rude were advisers to the staff. In mid-year a new teacher arrived at Highline, Miss Jamel Hassen, and became the new adviser. The Yell and Song leaders especially appreciated the help they received on their routines from the Culton Dance Studio in Burien.

OFFICE AIDES • Sacrificing their study halls, the C.A.S.H. girls worked diligently in the offices of Highline. The counselor's assistants had a two-fold purpose: to aid the counselor and to assist in the main and attendance offices, and to gain experience and opportunity in office practice. Working along beside them, the girls in the attendance office collected the pink slips, recorded tardies, and ran errands. A third group of girls, whose duties included waiting on the counter and generally saving steps for the secretaries, completed the list of those whose service was invaluable to the office personnel.

Angels of Mercy

ANOTHER organization that was a credit to Highline this year was the Junior Red Cross. During the year this group sponsored several parties and provided entertainment for the patients and staff in Madigan Army Hospital at Fort Lewis. They also operated a booth at the Festival of Nations Carnival.

Directing the group were Marsha Armstrong, president; Sue Beebe, vice-president and treasurer; and Marilyn Ruona, secretary. Mrs. Myrtle Rude was the faculty adviser.

"I Could Write a Book"

IN ITS fourth year of publication, The Pirates' Pen once again presented a variety of poems, short stories, and essays written by aspiring student authors. This year the magazine, which has in previous years been under sponsorship of the Library Club, was the first time published by Highline's new creative writing class, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Kaitis.

Heading the project, Neil MacKinnon and David Hon served as editor-in-chief and assistant editor, respectively. Steele Johnson and Kerry Kearns managed the magazine's business affairs, while Craig Collette was responsible for publicity. Doreene Quealey directed the magazine's art work. Mr. Donald Simpson contributed illustrations done by his art classes and also printed the magazine.

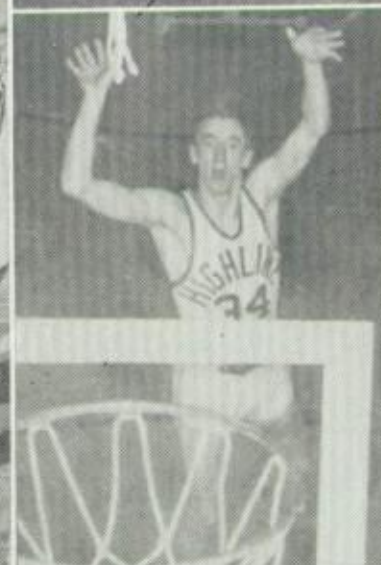

The selections included many poems, among them "Podunk Massacre," "School Begins Tomorrow," and "The Space Conquerors," by Lee Mohler; "The Cliff," a poetical legend by Diane Ramel; and "Poems" by Stan Titus. The magazine contained short stories, such as "Innocent Thief" by Craig Collette, as well as essays like "The Greasy Spoon" by Diana Dixon and "In-Screw Table" (inscrutable) by Larry Wright. In addition to those articles which appeared in The Pirates' Pen, many others were submitted, but were not published because of limited space.

The creative writing class undertook a most interesting assignment for Garland Norin of Vashon in which they gave their own individual impressions of Burien. Mrs. Norin praised them for their "creative expression, power of observation and discernment, conciseness, occasional cryptic remarks and evident sense of humor." Moreover, she backed up her praises with a three pound box of candy.

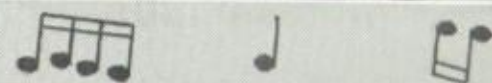

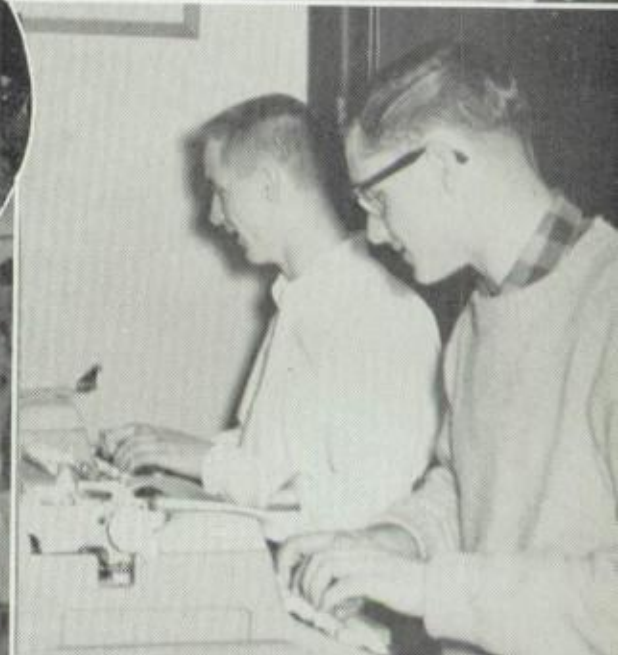

The Pirates' Pen proved a successful field for those desiring to express themselves in prose, poetry, or fiction.

COACHES • Lou Tice, Don White, Jim Shanley.

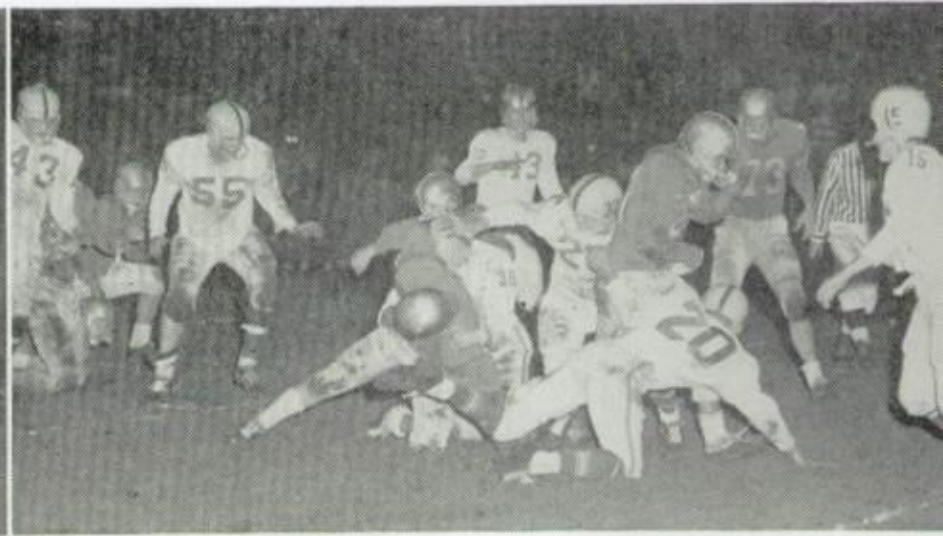

CHANGE THE RECORD was the call issued by Coach Don White as he, with the aid of assistant coaches Mr. Jim Shanley and Mr. Lou Tice, completely revamped football at Highline. Thus the "White Era" began and the gridders learned, among other things, punctuality. This fact can be attested to by those players who arose at 5:30 a.m. to make 6 o'clock practice during the first week of the season. The precise, highly organized standards presented and upheld by Coach White and his staff won not only the players' awe and respect, but that of everyone.

Mr. White's superior coaching was noted not only by local football fans, but by other powers that be, for he later received an appointment to the coaching staff at the University of Washington. The vacancy left by Mr. White's resignation was ably filled by Assistant Coach Jim Shanley. Mr. Shanley, who teaches U.S. History, played four years of college ball at the University of Oregon and a season with the Green Bay Packers.

VIKINGS TRIP BUCS

Opening the season with a new offense and untried players, the Buc crew met defeat at the hands of the Puyallup Vikings. Penalties, fumbles, and interceptions allowed neither side to score first half as each team struggled to gain control of its offense.

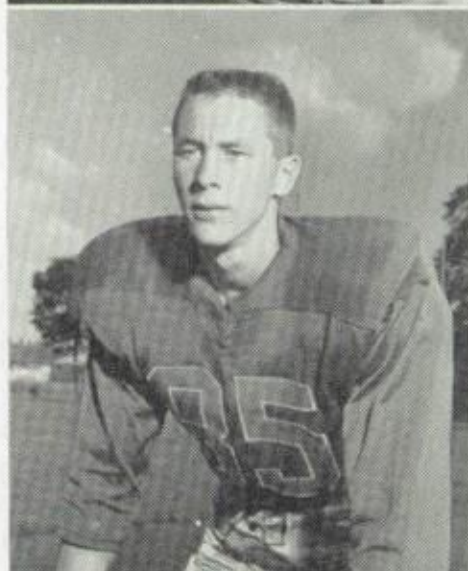

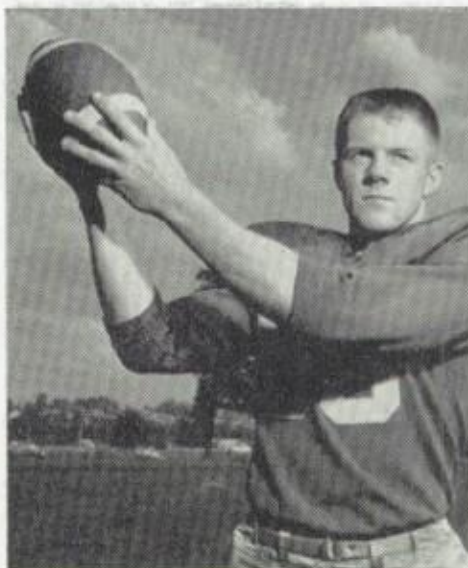

Pushing steadily after a Pirate punt in the third quarter, the Vikings managed to score, only to be scored upon four plays and fifty-five seconds later. Rich received a twenty yard lob from Adams that accounted for the six points. Then in the fourth quarter a Viking end sweep was good for twelve yards and six points as the Vikings wrapped up the game, 13 to 7.

BUCS GYP WOLVERINES

The game commenced as expected with Evergreen's power offense grinding out yards against the Bucs, who met the challenge with their overwhelming speed. The Pirate offense, headed by Riley Sivertsen, Mike Darland, and Rod Sivertsen moved the massive Wolverines around as they created holes for shifty Buc backs!

Evergreen scored, only to have the tables turned on them as the Pirates, moving the ball better under pressure, struck back twice to take the lead 13-7.

Midway in the fourth quarter, the Wolverines drew blood and tied the score 13 all. The Pirate machine again gathered up steam and rolled 71 yards in 10 plays to climax the game by scoring with the clock showing only 41 seconds left.

BUCS WHIP TROJANS

The excitement ran high as the unbeaten Auburn Trojans invaded Memorial Field. They were stopped cold as the mighty Pirate line allowed their offense only twelve yards and opened 122 yards of rushing for Buc backs in the first quarter. Dennis Clayton, Jim Sutton, and sophomore Herb Grisham looked good as they stymied the Trojans' aerial attack.

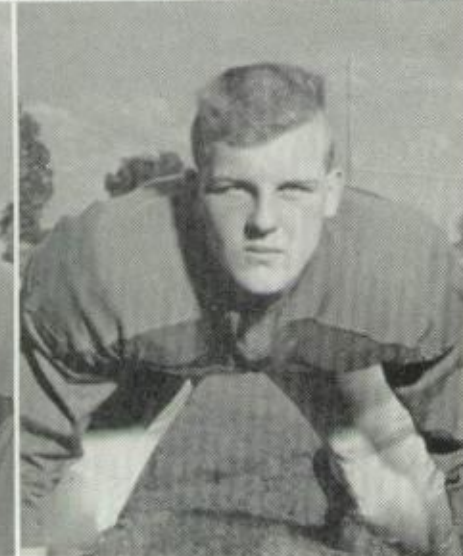

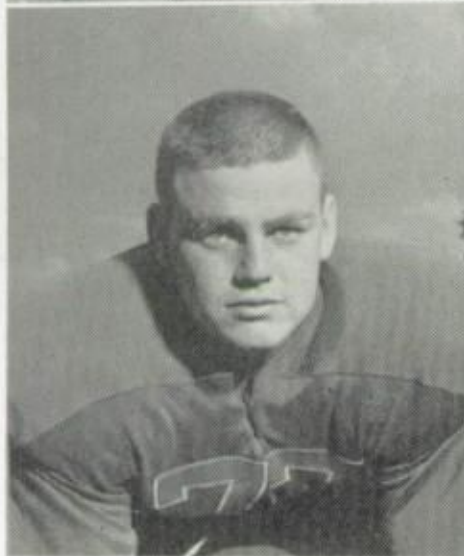

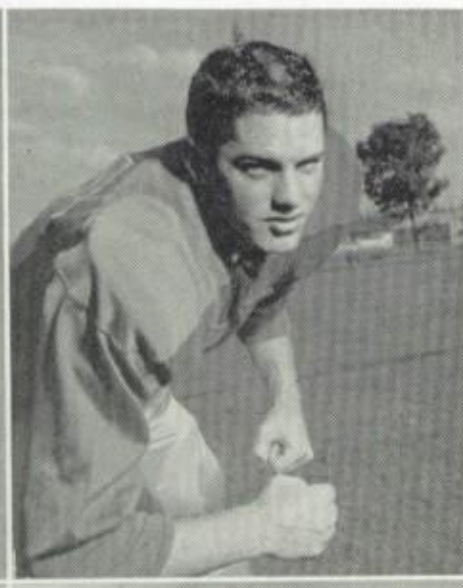

Neil Rockafeld turned on the power as he had two touchdown treks, one for 69 yards. Jeff Rich, in a dazzling display of speed, burst into the open for T. D. runs of 46 and 61 yards. When the final gun sounded, the Bucs had crushed the high hopes of the Auburn Trojans 32-0.

BUCS CLIP CARDINALS

Seeking revenge for their Homecoming tie, the Pirates set out to ruin Franklin Pierce's Homcoming. First quarter was marked by a tally on both sides with Rich doing the Pirates' scoring.

Second quarter efforts by Cardinals were broken up when the Pirates held them twice inside the 10 yard line. However, the Bucs' powerful offense didn't fail to score as Adams went over for 6 .

The third quarter was close and in the final seconds the Cardinals finally scored. After the kickoff, quarter time was blown. On the first play of the fourth quarter, Rockafeld rocketed 65 yards for a score. This opened Highline's dazzling 19 point fourth quarter, having two more scores by Rich and Sonnichsen's conversion. When the Buc's wrath had subsided, the score stood 32-13.

WARRIORS SLIP BUCKS

The Clover Park Warriors appeared greased as they slipped, slid, and stumbled past the Bucs for three scores in the first half. Buc halfback Rich, who scored the initial Pirate T.D., was stopped inches short of the goal as the final seconds of the half ticked off, much to the excited fans' dismay.

After halftime, the made and determined Pirates began to move the ball effectively as the White System "jelled." They held the Warriors scoreless in the third quarter and scored twice; once when John Cooley recovered a fumble and lateraled it to Fred Goodpaster, who scored, and later when Adams went over from four yards out after Bud Mount caught a pass deflected by Cooley.

Fourth quarter—a pass play from Adams to Wigsmoen conected for six points and the Bucs lead the league-leading Warriors, 25-21. The Warriors regained their senses and tallied with four minutes remaining. The Pirates fell short on final efforts. The final gun sounded and to the dismay of the unbelieving, unaccepting fans the scored read 28-25, Clover Park.

COACH FOWLER

Beginning Their Record

ENTERING Highline with little or no experience the sophomore boys were molded into an impressive, well-balanced squad. Under the direction of Coaches Bill Fowler and Lowell Quesnell the young Pirates were not only drilled on the fundamentals and techniques of football but also on the value of sportsmanship. With the enthusiastic support of the newly organized Hep Club, the team displayed a winning spirit throughout the twelve week season.

Although hampered in the early stages with fumbles and poor passing, the boys showed that they could overcome the "jitters" in the first few games. Using the same offenses and defenses as the varsity, the young Bucs had a fairly successful season with wins over Kent, Renton, Mt. Rainier and Everett while tying or losing some cliffhangers to Evergreen, Mt. Rainier and Auburn.

During the course of the season, several of the squad were promoted to suit up to play in varsity competition. The addition of this new blood to the senior team should put the already talented Pirate varsity in strong contention for the 1960 gridiron crown. Climaxing the season was the highly successful night game with Everett which the team won easily.

Symphony in D Minor

ENDOWED with an unyielding never-say-die attitude, the Pirate basketball squad endured what would have broken lesser men; playing an entire season without winning a game. Yes, but don't think the will, ability, and desire weren't there, for they attacked their foes with such energy and zest that even the fans, sometimes sure of defeat, would yell their lungs out encouraging and spurring on the squad. Lead by four spirited seniors: Mike Alderson, Eddie Davis, Ron Kniss, and Tom Ruttkay, the squad never gave up as fans witnessed some of the most exciting games in the history of Highline.

MUSIC MAESTRO!

The Pied Piper overture began as the Central Kitsap Wolves tore up the Bucs 56-39. The Pirates almost got their revenge when, later in the season, the Wolves squeaked by in an overtime thriller 61-60. In other non-leaguers the Pirates lost to highly rated Anacortes 58-39 and to Sedro Wooley in a marginal, 53-52, win.

CHANGE THAT TUNE

Opening league play with traditional rivals, the Pirate crew succumbed to a tall Renton quintet 70-32. The Bucs returned home to be denied by a powerful Kent team in a spine-tingler, 45-44.

The traveling Pirates could find no open doors this year. Sumner nullified Buc efforts, 43-33; Rainier Rams butted harder in a football exercise, 35-32; and Franklin Pierce feathered Pirates, 51-41.

Evergreen broke tradition as they scuttled the Pirates, 53-34.

After a series of suppressed Pirate efforts in which Southerners, Puyallup and Clover Park, added to the static, the Bucs wound up a season in the new league as they lost to Kent 77-36. Although having experienced an unsuccessful season this year, Coach Bill Trowbridge grinned and said, "Wait till next year."

Four Years of Precision Designing

UNDEFEATED after four years of high school competition, Coach Sarver's team swept its way through another perfect season, defending its state championship.

Thought to be greatly weakened by the loss of Terry Hildebrand, the team, nevertheless, proved as strong as ever in initial meets by defeating Renton 93 to 35 and 67 to 45. The Bucs met the University of Washington Frosh Team next in perhaps the most surprising meet of the season, for the Frosh went down in defeat by the score of 74½ to 53½.

With three meets out of the way, the Pirates had to defend their titles with the Area Championships held at Highline. Again, as before, the squad defeated all other competitors. The following meet was the High School Invitational Meet where the Pirates sailed on to another victory, chalking up a total of 84½ points. Renton was again second with only 69½ points.

The most important tussle of the season was the State Championship Meet at Pullman. Again, Highline's sensational team came through to win the state title, defeating the second place team, Renton, by 100 points.

To complete the season, the team traveled to Como Lake, British Columbia, for the Northwest A.A.U. Gymnastics Meet. The Pirates showed their strength in the Novice division with Jim Dieterich winning the all-around title leading his teammates to another victory. Representing Highline in the Junior Men's Division were Stuart Rehnstrom and Bruce Zimmerman; and, in the senior division, Steve Woodward and Bob Dalton showed their strength by taking first place in parallel bars and rope climb, respectively.

"Victory at Sea"

JUDGES and timers, swimmers take your marks. Bang! These familiar words bring back many memories to the members and followers of the Highline swim team. This year's swim team, backed by several returning lettermen, posted an excellent record against such strong competition as Wilson, Everett, Bellevue and Stadium High Schools, and the University of Washington Frosh.

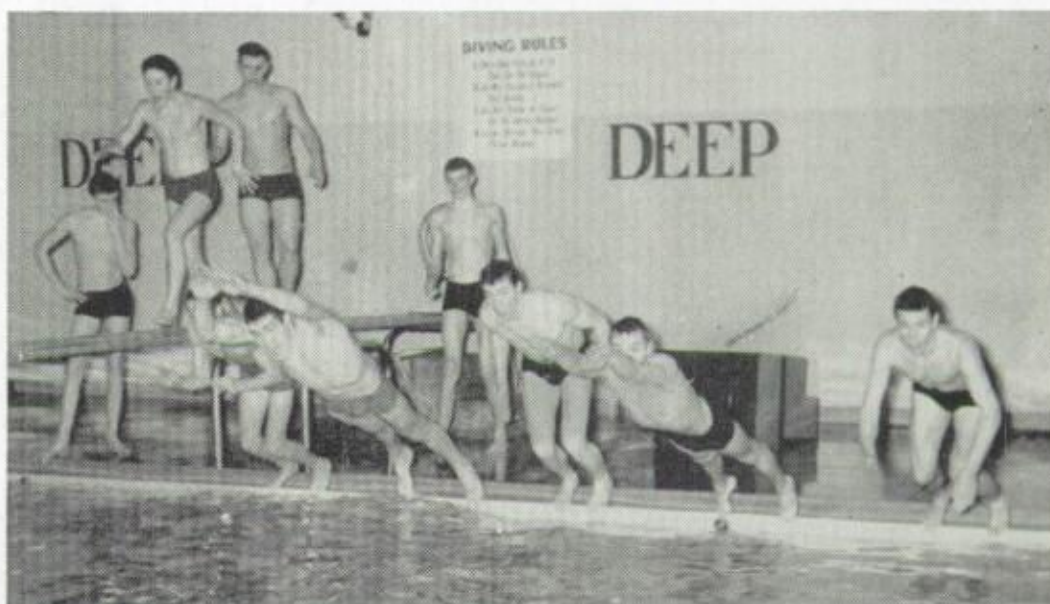

Training, under the watchful eye of Coach Bob Sarver, began in early December and continued until late February. Rigorous two-hour workouts every day of the week, including Saturday and Sunday, served a dual purpose. They not only conditioned the team for their forthcoming season, but also gave Coach Sarver a chance to weed out those who were looking for a play period, as well as those who lacked the physical ability and stamina to participate in the competitive sport.

Near the end of the season, Highline mer-men scored a close third place in the Northern Division Championships. In the State Championships held at the University of Washington, the Highline free-style relay team took a third place. At the athletic banquet following the competition, Steve Thomas was elected squad captain for the 1960-61 season, and Steve LePenske was rated the inspirational team member for the 1959-60 season.

Sailing on Golden Wings

HIGHLINE CINDERMEN, supported by a strong senior nucleus, sprinted, vaulted, jumped and threw over many obstacles as they won their third Puget Sound League Conference championship in four years. The victory was made possible by Coach Vic Carpine's tremendous efforts in conditioning the boys, both mentally and physically, over a period of three years for most of the team.

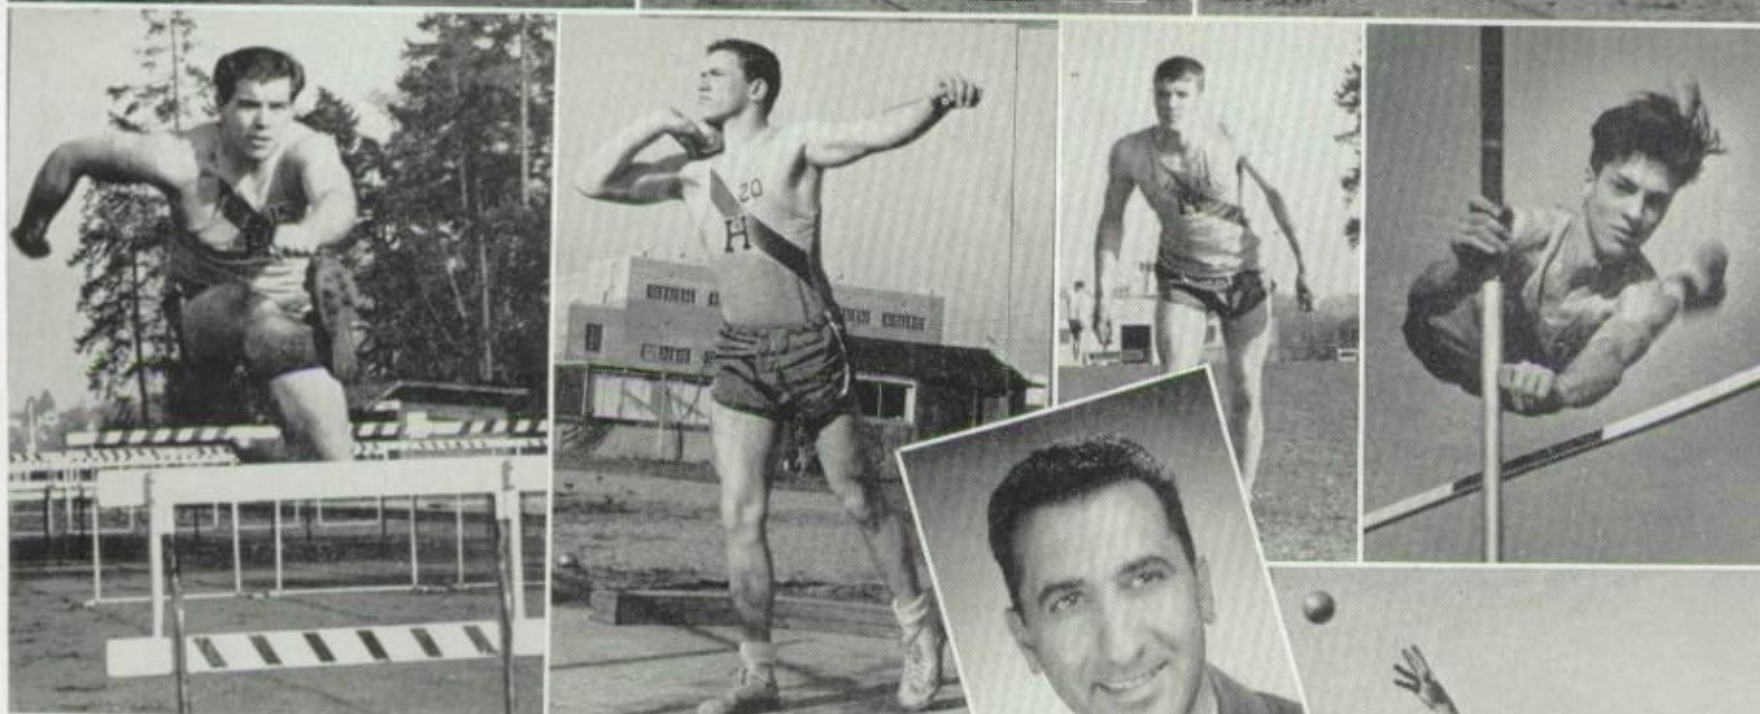

Those placing in the Puget Sound Conference were: Del Ackles, first in pole vault; John Cooley, first in shot put, high hurdles and discus; Dennis Clayton, third in both the 100 and 220 yard dash; Neil Rockafeld, second in broad jump; Mike Cassidy, third in 880; Norm Shawstad, third in the mile; Fred Goodpaster, second in high hurdles; Bob Willis, second in 880 and Bill Stockham, third in discus. Highline's 880 relay (Williams, Cooley, Goodpaster and Clayton) won a fourth and the mile relay (Hewitt, Wilson, Teeter and Clibborn) placed second.

As the yearbook went to press, the squad was looking hopefully toward the State Qualifying Meet.

The Game in "Short Shorts"

WITH THE arrival of spring, there also came a full scale of practice and league matches to keep Highline's net squad continually battling opponents in hopes of winning the league championship. For all home matches, the team was especially privileged in making use of the Evergreen Tennis and Country Club's eight courts. The varsity consisted of the top four players from the boys' and girls' ladders; the Junior Varsity, the next four players on each ladder. Throughout the session, the usual lineup was: Boys' singles, Bud DeDonato, boys' doubles, Joe Davis and Russ Adams, girls' singles, Sandy Rehmann, mixed doubles, Mary Wilson and Guy Soderlind. The girls' doubles team was plagued by sickness and a shifting ladder, but among Carla Dillon, Leila Gudgel, and Kay Schumann, two of them always managed to represent Highline in this event.

As the yearbook went to press, the Pirates had a league record of three wins, beating Kent, 5-0, Auburn, 4-1, and Sumner, 5-0, and two losses to Puyallup, 2-3, and Clover Park, 1-4.

"Take Me Out to the Ball Game"

PAINS hampered the Pirates' first week of practice. Their first two encounters were non-league games against Bellevue. The Bucs split a double header, losing the first 8-4, but taking the second, 7-3.

The Pirates' opened their league season with a smashing win over Kent, 8-2. The eight-hit attack was led by Tom Adams, Terry Gottberg, and John Roberts, who each picked up two hits. Adams' two hits were a triple and home run. Then came a great come-from-behind victory over Evergreen, 6-2, paced by home runs from Dave Hester and Art Case.

The local team suffered their first setback at the hands of Kent, 1-0, when Bill Nelson pitched a two hitter; however, the Pirates couldn't get a runner across the plate.

In a great comeback, the Highline boys beat Mt. Rainier with every Highline batter getting at least one hit. The Pirates totaled 16 hits in their smashing win. Kim Morgan went 3 for 3 driving in 5 runs; Dave Hester also collected 3 hits. Then they fell into a slump losing to Evergreen, 3-2, on two unearned runs. Art Case led the Pirates with two doubles.

At press time, the Pirate baseball squad faced six more games.

Sport Light Shines . . .

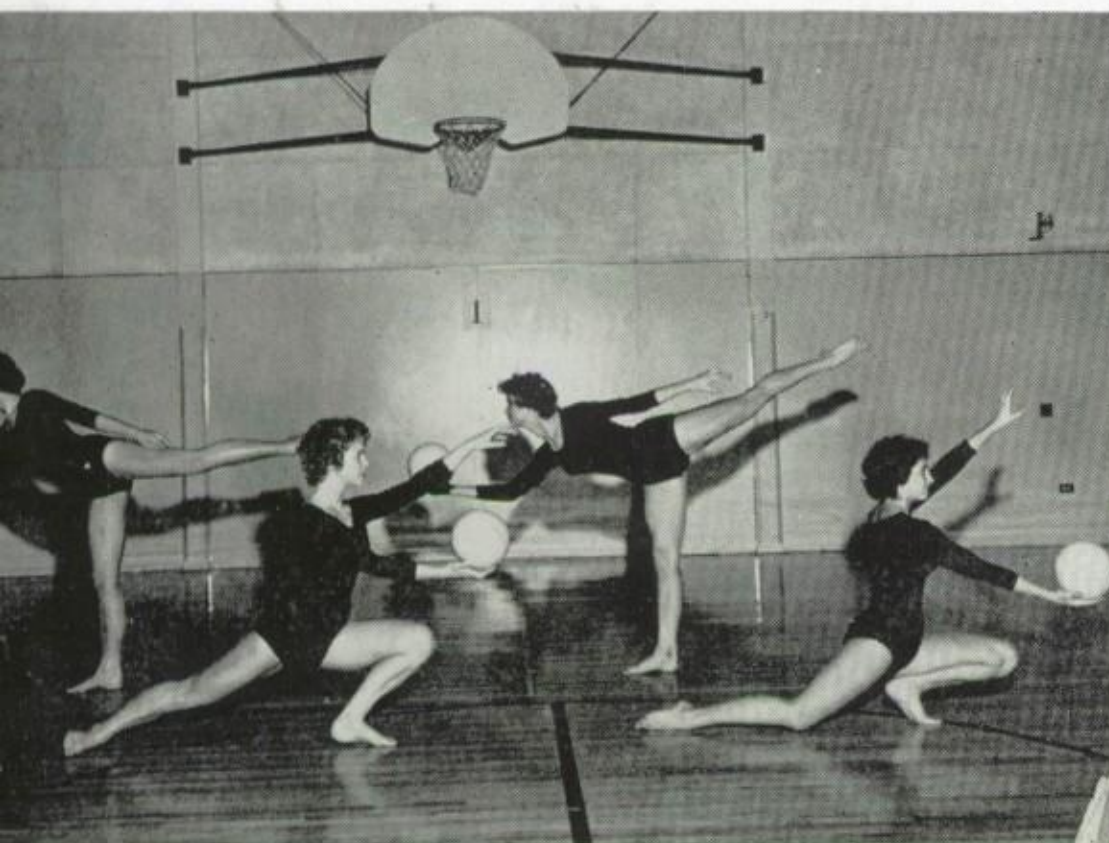

AS THE FABULOUS fifties faded and the dazzling sixties began, polls were tallied and fifty gold letters awarded. Established stars and newcomers alike shared in the glories of a year which had seen many records made and pressed.

Fall programing offered fans a wide variety of playing pleasures. The Volleyballers, Pin Knockers, Gymnasts, and Racketeers were top recording artists. The intramural label gained overwhelming popularity under the enthusiastic promotion of the advisers, Mrs. Mary Sarver and Miss Irene Hallet.

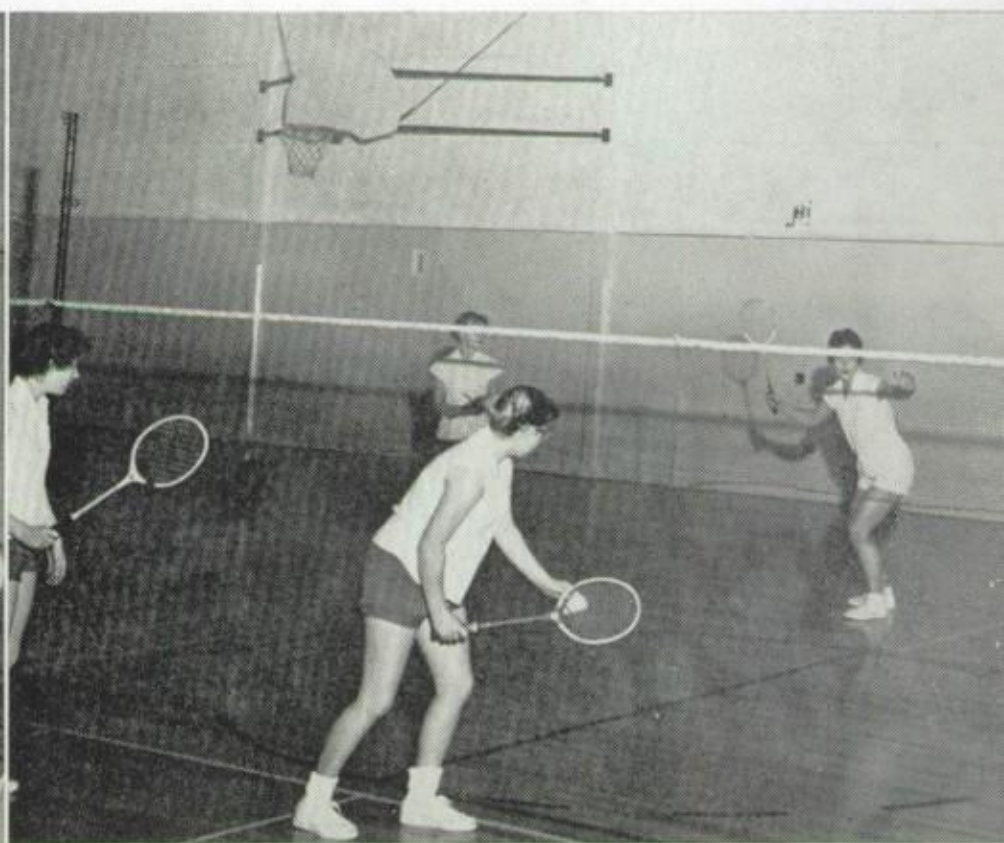

The coming of winter called for a change in the top six listings. With fifty playing each night, "Volleyball" smashed into the number one spot as the Whistling Six Plus One, Mary Rankin, Jan Gruse, Cleone Davison, Audrey Anderson, Pat James, Lorna Smith and Sharon Douglas, earned official ratings. Halls hummed with the Gymnasts' latest "Meets and Ribbons;" while Pat LaBrie soloed her referee's card with the "Basketball Bounce." The Singing Birdies and Wood Splinters could also be heard.

Spring marched in on the 21st of March to open the Sports' third engagement. "Tennis I and II," "Splash" by the Swimmers, the "Bat Swing" and tunes from modern dance collected the most votes on the hit parade.

Sporting spectacles were included at intervals throughout the year to add diversity to programming. Performers from schools in the Puget Sound League gathered for playdays of softball, volleyball, recreational sports, and bowling. Badminton and basketball sports days were also featured. On their home grounds, the girls went beatnik, converting the Hi-Line Lanes into another "Green Door." Critics issued favorable reviews on each event, commending the sportsmanship and caliber of games played — all of which added to the assurance of the girls.

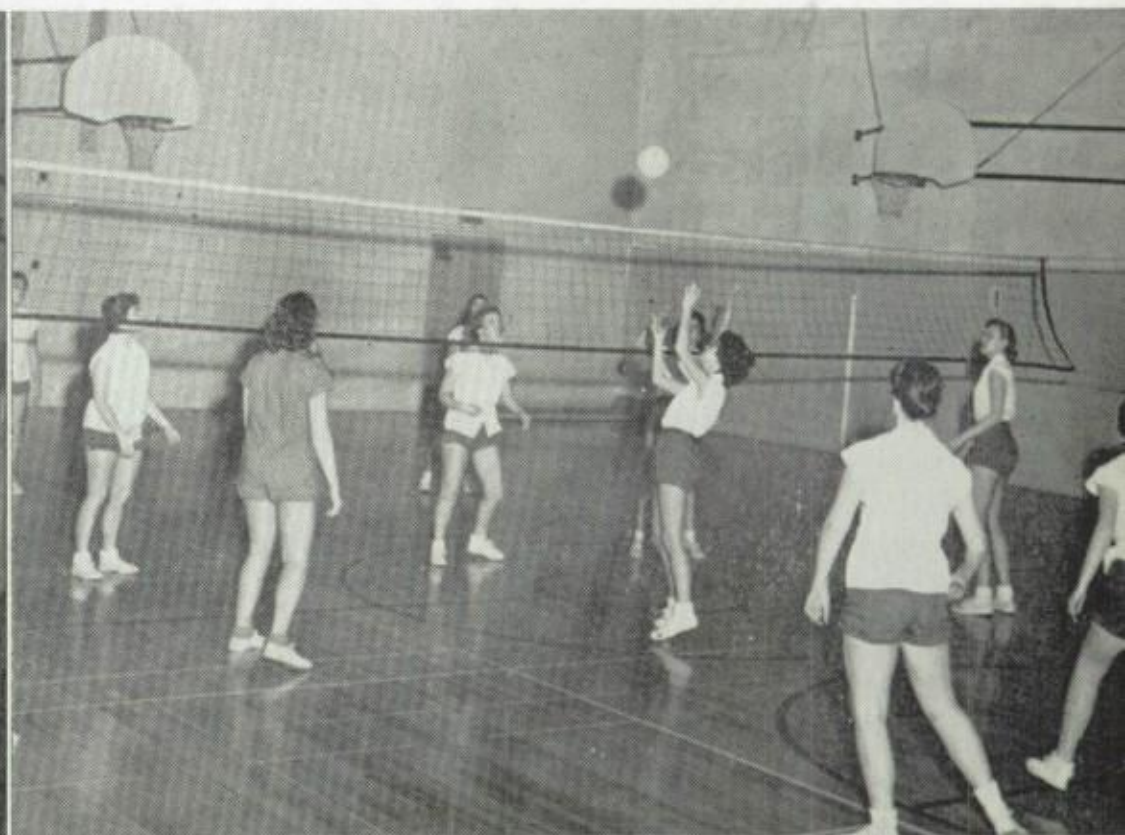

In May, the Highline letter girls released their final L. P. of the season entitled "Initiation." The album of favorites brought back memories of many fun-filled days. One song, "Bow Down to Washington," held recollections of twenty letter girls rooting for the Huskies at the memorable Southern California game. Other tunes tied in with the first time on ice skates, a slumber party minus the slumber, the Christmas party for graduates, a kidnap breakfast, hiking, and last of all, the trek around Vashon on bicycles.

As the final melody faded, memories were turned to golden keepsakes.

BASKETBALL • Divers, Rehmann, Wood, Gudgel, Rickensrud.
